

Council Holds Busy Session

The regular meeting of the Village Council was held on Monday night with Reeve W. C. West and Councilors J. Harper Rollins, Thos. Cranston, J. A. Burditt and A. E. Dobbie present.

A deputation composed of Mrs. (Dr.) Alger, Mrs. J. McC. Potts and G. L. Clute, interviewed the Council on behalf of the Public Library, asking for financial assistance.

Mrs. Alger was the first to address the Council and outlined the financial condition of this institution, which is one of Stirling's assets. In order for the work to be successfully carried on it would be necessary for the Council to make some further grant. The Board realized the expenses and difficulties facing the Council, but there were some things that could not be realized in dollars and cents, and the Library was one of them. The circulation had increased amazingly. The Board has been handicapped due to a marked reduction in the government grants during the past two years. The amount needed was $298.40, which included $50 still owing by the Council for rent. Mrs. Potts gave a further report of the financial condition. As this was extra over the 1 mill levy for the Library, the Council left the matter over until the final meeting to see if the finances would permit the additional grant.

Letters from D. H. Fleming, engineer, relating to the detention tank for waterworks, and the Provincial Audit Dept., Toronto, re auditing of Hydro books by village auditors were filed.

Constable Wickert desired to know what was to be done regarding the feeding of transients, as they were becoming quite numerous. It was decided that the Constable supply sandwiches and coffee, evening and morning, if necessary, for 10c each lunch.

Reeve West informed the members that this village would have an opportunity of sending 25 or 30 men to work on the highway between Marmora and Madoc. He had sent in the names of 39 men. Certain men will be chosen from time to time and he desired to know what method would be adopted to make the necessary selections. Four local men had left for work on Monday morning, but he wanted it emphatically understood he did not pick them. Council decided to give married men the preference and if necessary select the names "out of the hat."

Thos. W. Solmes, Roger McKelvie, John, Clifford Baker, Jas. Larrow and Frank Sprentall waited on the Council in the interests of a Community Christmas Tree to be held on Saturday, December 23rd, in the vicinity of the Memorial Park. The idea had been originated by the Hydro Commissioners, who were willing to decorate the tree with lights and furnish power gratis, and a citizen promised to supply a large tree free. The project was also being backed by the Community Welfare Club. In order to make the tree a success it required money and they desired a grant of $25. The cost is estimated at $75. The merchants and business men will be called upon for a donation. The committee in charge proposed to interview the teachers in the rural public schools for the purpose of having the pupils take part in the big parade. Each public school pupil from the village and district will be given a big bag of candy free and will be admitted to the show gratis in the afternoon. Santa Claus will pay a visit.

A grant of $25 was made and the entire Council thought it a splendid idea.

Tom Ward, local Scoutmaster, on behalf of the Scouts, desired to know what charges would be made to the Scouts for the use of the Theatre for one night for a Concert. It was decided to charge the regular price and that a donation of $5 be given if the theatre were rented.

Reeve West stated that Mr. W. S. Martin reported to him that Hon. J. R. Cooke had informed Mr. Martin that two magistrates—both to sit together on all cases—could be appointed, providing they were not insurance agents, and suggested that two names be forwarded to the Attorney-General recommending the two men. COUNTY COUNCIL ACTS ON INDIGENT QUESTION

In the issue of the News-Argus two weeks ago, it was emphasized in an editorial the necessity of a check-up on indigent Hospital accounts. At Tuesday's session of County Council, this question took up practically the entire afternoon. We are pleased to note that most of the County Councilors are in favour of a more thorough investigation regarding indigent patients, in an endeavour to cut the high cost which has developed in this branch of the County's expenditures. A resolution effecting this matter will be passed during the present session.

WELLINGTON HAS A GUN-WIELDER

The Village of Wellington in Prince Edward County, is again in the limelight. Recently sensational news was broadcasted when a daring bank hold-up was frustrated by a courageous bank manager. Today the village is again in the throes of excitement as an armed posse searched cautiously for an apparently maniacal gunman. The wanted man was reported to have on two occasions on Tuesday night shot at residents of the village, and in each case it was only poor marksmanship that prevented bloodshed and death. Ralph McDonald, one of the Village Constables, and a night-watchman in a dairy, were the targets. The police are hot on the trail.

LADIES TO BE GUESTS

Wives and sweethearts of members of Stirling's Community Welfare Club will be guests at the regular meeting to be held in the Community Hall next Tuesday night. It is "Ladies' Night" and members who do not attend with a female partner will be "punished". A big attendance is expected and a most interesting and humorous program has been arranged. This is the annual meeting when officers will be elected and business of importance will be dealt with. An amendment to the constitution is being recommended and if adopted will further the efficiency of the Club. It is going to be a BIG night so the men should take warning and be there with the "Missus", or "Sweetie" (whichever is appropriate). The banquet is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Gives Talk on Great Pyramid

The local branch of the A.Y.P.A. have been real active the last few days with many interesting events. On November 26th was the annual C.Y.P.A. Sunday. At 8 o'clock the members of the A.Y.P.A. attended corporate communion, after which breakfast was served in the vestry. Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne, of Rawdon Parish, was special after-breakfast speaker. The members then stayed for Sunday school. At seven o'clock the evening service was in charge of the A.Y.P.A., and those who took part were Arthur Bateman, Arthur Gould, Harry Morrow, Fred Houchin, Jerry Craven, Melville Tanner and Mr. Blaire. Rev. A. S. McConnell gave a very inspiring address on "Courage". After the service tea was served to members of other A.Y.P.A.'s and visitors.

Monday evening, November 27th, the local branch challenged Frankford A.Y.P.A. to a debate in Frankford. The subject of the debate was "Resolved that Company-Owned and Chain Stores are an advantage to the People of Ontario." About thirty members of the local branch attended Frankford. The debate was won by the Stirling debaters, Harry Morrow, Arthur Gould and Jerry Craven, who supported the affirmative side. Frankford members served a dainty lunch, after which dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours.

On Monday evening last a most successful meeting was held in the vestry with over 62 members and visitors attending. The meeting opened with hymn "Breathe on Me, Breath of God". The usual prayers were given by Rev. A. S. McConnell. After the minutes were read and adopted, the President, Jerry Craven, thanked all those who assisted in the debate at Frankford. There were three new members introduced into the local branch, those being Messrs N. G. Bailey, Ned Potts and Tom Bedford. Rev. A. S. McConnell then spoke a few words on the Christmas Fair in Frankford on Friday evening, December 15th. He also spoke of our own Christmas entertainment at which next Monday evening each member is to bring a small present or toy to (Continued on Page Five)

CURRENT COMMENT

December, the month that Santa Claus pays his official visit, and tax-paying time, is with us.

We received a new 1934 calendar last week which made us realize 1933 was rapidly drawing to a close.

With so many rural phones removed, the greeting "Hello Everybody" may not be so appropriate when you take down the receiver for a rural party line call.

Ratepayers are reminded that a week from to-day — next Thursday — is the final day for the payment of this year's taxes. After that date, a penalty of five per cent. is added.

Did you ever notice how pleasant a person can be when they are endeavouring to sell you anything that you really do not need? We have, and have concluded that if everybody were so, what a swell old world this would be.

Stirling's municipal nominations will be held on Friday, December 22nd at 7 p.m. owing to the regular date—the last Monday in December—falling on Christmas. From reports there will be at least two new faces in next year's Council.

The ice storm over the week-end has made the streets and also the rural highways slippery and treacherous for travelling. Fortunately no accidents have been reported, although the sidewalk "came up and hit" several local pedestrians.

Cheese factories in this district are closed until next Spring. In some plants the make was smaller this year, while others report an increased production. It was gratifying to note that the average price of cheese was higher than last year.

Only fourteen more days for Christmas Shopping. Watch for next week's special Christmas edition of the News-Argus. It will be filled with Gift Suggestions at prices that cannot be surpassed elsewhere. It will pay you to do your Christmas Shopping in Stirling this year.

Local ratepayers may have an opportunity of voting on a Utilities Commission by-law at the civic election. At Monday night's meeting of the Council, Councillor Dobbie gave notice that he would introduce a by-law for the purpose of forming a Utilities Commission to take charge of the Hydro and Water departments, the same to be voted upon at the Municipal elections. Councillors Cranston and Burditt were strongly opposed to the idea, claiming that the water department should be left in the hands of the Council. That will be decided and may become an issue in the election platform.

Stirling will have a Community Christmas Tree this year, which will be received with glee by the kiddies of the district. The day of the big event is scheduled for Saturday, December 23rd, when Santa Claus will arrive in town and a big parade will be staged. It is expected that the tree will be placed near the Memorial Park and attractively lighted. Every public school pupil from Stirling and surrounding district will be given a "treat". Much credit for this project is due the members of the Hydro Commission, who are the fathers of the idea. A Committee has been selected to make all arrangements. At Monday night's meeting of the Council, a donation of $25 was given towards the tree. Special announcements will be made next week.

The Demand for Free Publicity

If all the free publicity that comes to this office through the mails were printed, to the exclusion of local news, we would publish a sixteen page paper for a couple of issues — and then go out of business. Every newspaper sells advertising, just as a grocer, dry goods merchant, butcher, etc. sells his goods or a dentist or doctor his services.

Very few people would have the effrontery to ask

What Others Say

Peterboro Examiner — A Liberal majority of at least 2,000 is predicted in East Kent. If Mr. Hepburn is an accurate prophet this by-election might as well go by default and thus save the expense of conducting an election.

RESCIND WAGE CUT OF TRENT CANAL WORKERS

(Trenton Courier-Advocate)

Employees of the Trent Valley Canal system were gratified this week when they received word that they were to go back on full pay.

This announcement was made by the head engineer, Mr. Dubuc, last week. During the past year the employees of the canal, who were formerly receiving between $80.00 and $90.00 per month, had their wages cut fifty per cent, and the men were finding it a hard task to make ends meet. This notification came through the head engineer on Thursday, November 23rd, and stated that the department was aware that the men could not live on the existing wage scale. The return to the old wage rate will go into effect on Friday, December 1st, and will last until the end of the fiscal year, March 31st, 1934. It has not yet been learned whether the employees will receive the money which was lost by the men since their cuts last July.

HOW THEY DO IT

(Kingsville Reporter)

People sometimes wonder how department stores can sell some classes of goods as cheaply or cheaper than the retailer would have to pay wholesale. Well, here is one of the tricks of the trade, that came to light a few weeks ago, which will explain how it is done. The buyer for a certain department store went to a manufacturer and desired to purchase several hundred pieces of a certain kind of goods made by the firm. The manufacturer quoted the close figure of 62 cents a piece. No, said the buyer, I will not give you more than fifty cents a piece. The manufacturer said he did not see how he could do it. He was paying his men $1.50 per day. He could not take the contract unless the men would work for a dollar a day. He called his men together and placed the matter before them. The men were anxious to work and rather than lose the contract, they agreed to take $1.00 per day. The goods were turned out and delivered, and the store advertised and sold them at ninety-eight cents each, or a profit of forty-eight cents each. Thus, the mechanic who made the goods was robbed of fifty cents a day, in order that the department store could make a great "sacrifice sale" and undersell the regular dealer.

No doubt that buyer was given credit for doing a shrewd stroke of business for his firm.

Wonder if it would be possible that some of the workmen who turned out those goods rewarded the department store for its generosity by sending it a nice mail order for groceries, dry goods and furniture, when they were in need of those things?

The Magistrate Mystery?

At last there looks to be something definite toward the appointment of a "Cadi" in Stirling, although the circumstances are peculiar. At Monday night's Council meeting Reeve West reported that he had been advised through a local resident, that Stirling could have TWO magistrates — not one Police Magistrate — appointed, provided the names of the men suggested were not in the insurance business. Why the stipulation? And again we say why TWO? Wasn't the previous magistrate an insurance agent? There certainly is a "nigger in the wood-pile". What we cannot understand is why the Council were not given this information direct from Queen's Park in place of having it relayed.

Some months ago a resolution was passed by the Council suggesting a name for a police magistrate and forwarded to the Attorney-General's Dept. in Toronto. But as yet it has never been acknowledged, which shows that apparently the Department recognizes Stirling communications so highly that they are pigeon-holed or thrown in the waste-paper basket. If the Government had decided that it was impossible to appoint a police magistrate, why didn't they inform the Council direct to this effect. It's a conundrum we cannot fathom.

Now we may have two magistrates, both of them to sit together on all cases. This to us is tommyrot, but a great way to evade the question. However, the Council is going to call the government's bluff. They recommended two names at Monday night's meeting — even though the request came in a round-about way — and the same will be forwarded to Queen's Park authorities. The Councilors considered it was better to have two "Minor" magistrates — without the powers of a Police cadi — than none at all. We certainly feel that the local councillors have been slammed by Queen's Park, and that some local influence has been brought to bear on the question. The News-Argus is going to endeavour to solve this "mystery" and if it is successful the public will be made aware of all facts. The Council has been condemned because a magistrate has not been appointed, but we want to emphatically state that that body is blameless, and the fault lies either at Queen's Park or with some local citizens. Who knows? Somebody does!

The Teaching Profession

Of all the duties and responsibilities which confront our members of school boards, there is not a more important one than the selection of teachers. For, after all, any school system is just as good, and no better, than the standard set by the instructors.

The moral influence of teachers upon boys and girls is tremendous. There is no way of estimating it. The average child believes that whatever a teacher says or does is good and worthy of emulation. Thus, a teacher who lacks the proper moral slant is capable of doing a world of lasting harm. For instance, it is difficult for fathers and mothers to influence their children from frequenting questionable places or indulging in doubtful diversions when they know that their teachers follow such practices. A teacher who attends wild parties and drunken dances, etc., is making it most difficult for parents to keep their children in line. A teacher cannot be too careful about her speech and conduct. In these respects she is observed as closely after school hours as during class sessions. In fact, so far as these matters are concerned, she is never off duty.

A teacher who does nothing more than impart technical training is not beginning to discharge her responsibilities. Unless she is able to enrich the characters of her charges, she is failing utterly.

We believe Stirling has staffs in both high and public schools who measure up as highly as the teachers in any other town or city in the province.

An exchange gives the following list of qualifications for a good teacher:

1. Good moral character.
2. Health and good habits.
3. Above the average in intelligence.
4. General appearance.
5. Pleasant voice habits of speech.
6. Initiative and independence.
7. Industry and alertness.
8. Tact.
9. Polite.
10. Honesty.
11. Loyalty.
12. Interest.
13. Knowledge of subject matter.
14. To these we would add:
15. A pair of glittering wings.
16. A golden harp.
17. A star-gemmed crown.

CHURCHES USING TOO MUCH BALLYHOO AND HOCUS-FOCUS IN RAISING MONEY

(Bowmanville Statesman)

At a recent conference of Anglican Young People in Toronto, the theme "Courage and Co-operation for Christ and Church" was carried through several sessions, greatly inspiring the 500 young people who attended. There can be no doubt that at no time in the history of any church has there been such a need for courage and co-operation in facing the task of carrying on the great work of propagating the gospel in Canada and throughout the entire world.

There is a deplorable lack of sincerity, service and co-operation among many so-called Christians. For these very reasons, citizens are being pestered to death with ticket sellers. Church organizations of every denomination have concocted all manner of means to raise funds to carry on their work. There are church teas, suppers, picture shows, bazaars, raffles, concerts, dramas, card parties, home-made cooking sales, and other commercialized money raising stunts guaranteed to fill your stomach, thrill and entertain you or give you something for nothing, all because a lot of people have ceased giving their free-will Sunday offerings to the church, while others think they are fooling the Lord by dropping a big nickel on the collection plate which looks like a quarter of a dollar, but actually is only a Canadian 5c piece.

There is no doubt in our mind that if every adherent or member of the Bowmanville churches gave according to their means and in the good old-fashioned way, or gave even half of the old Bible stipulation of a "tithe" there would be no need whatever for church organizations to work their heads off with a lot of ballyhoo and hocus-fucus in an endeavour to keep their beloved and sacred ship upon an even keel.

We contend, and have always contended, that anyone who calls himself a Christian should support his or her church, not only morally and spiritually, but financially. There is a certain type of person, too, who never attends a church, and often boasts about it, and yet this same individual is ready and willing to call upon the church for aid when in need. If it is not forthcoming they belabour the church for its inhumanity, and point to it as a professing Christian organization that makes no attempt to carry out Christ's command to do unto others as they would be done by.

It is time that some of these people measured up to their obligation and realized that it takes money to operate a church. It did from earliest times and it still does. If the church is to fulfil its mission as the greatest institution in a community it must have the sympathetic and generous support of everyone.

A CALL TO INDEPENDENT FARM PEOPLE

Next Thursday, December 14th, during the week of their annual convention, the United Farmers of Ontario will throw their doors open to all farm people of the province who are desirous of framing and supporting a vigorous independent agricultural program designed to assure immediate relief and bring about permanent recovery.

This Farmers' Mass meeting which is not in any sense a part of the U.F.O. convention will be held in the King Edward Hotel, 35 King Street East, Toronto, beginning promptly at 120 p.m. If more than one session is required the meeting will be allowed to continue into an evening session. A cordial invitation is extended to all independent thinking farm people to be present.

FOUR GENERATIONS AT GOLDEN WEDDING FESTIVAL

(Campbellford Herald)

A unique event occurred at the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Butler on Wednesday, Nov. 29th, when they celebrated their fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Participating in the event were four generations. Mrs. Jane Gay, now in her 93rd year, mother of Mrs. Butler, the bride and groom of 50 years ago, their son, John Butler, druggist, of Stirling, and his son, Frank.

The day was spent quietly in the

H. Sills and Mrs. W. C. McKay, of Toronto.

Mrs. Butler was born in the 5th concession of Huntingdon, being the oldest of the family of Mrs. Jane Gay and the late John Gay. The family of brothers and sisters include: Mrs. T. J. Cook, of Norham; James Gay, of Essex; John Gay, Mrs. L. A. Denike and Mrs. James Sanders, of town; Dr. and Mrs. Butler have one son, John, a druggist, of Stirling, and one home, many visitors calling to offer congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Butler are enjoying fairly good health and are able to perform their usual round of daily duties. Mrs. Gay is in remarkably good health, and no one enjoyed the festivities of the occasion more than she.

Dr. and Mrs. Butler were married in St. John's Church, Stirling, on Nov. 29th, 1883, by Rev. Mr. Goddard. They were attended by Miss Elizabeth Osborne and D. W. Mack, now Dr. Mack, of Portland, Oregon, both of whom are still living.

Dr. and Mrs. Butler are both natives of Hastings County, he being a son of the late James Butler, who lived near Minto, in Rawdon township. He has three brothers, Dr. B. F., of Collingwood; Dr. G. W., of Indianapolis, and Dr. Tait Butler, of Memphis, Tenn.; also three sisters, Mrs. McDermid, of Calgary; Mrs. B.

grandchild, Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler.

In 1886, Dr. and Mrs. Butler moved to Campbellford, where he practised the profession of a veterinary surgeon. Later he practised for a number of years in Marmora. On retiring from active work they lived in Belleville for some years, returning to Campbellford a few years ago. Dr. Butler took a deep interest in agricultural affairs, particularly in the Agricultural Society, having been the efficient secretary of Marmora Society for several years. Dr. and Mrs. Butler are members of the Baptist Church and are deeply interested in its activities.

To the bride and groom of fifty years ago the Herald joins many friends in offering congratulations and in expressing best wishes for many more years of good health and happiness.

Usher (at wedding to cold, dignified lady): "Are you a friend of the groom?"

The Lady: "Indeed, no, I am the bride's mother."

Late at night the landlord of some flats was awakened by a tenant.

Tenant: "Can the landlord interfere when a woman in the third floor cat quarrels with her husband and disturbs the neighbours at night?"
Landlord: "You are the neighbor?"
Tenant: "No, I am the husband."

Stirling Wife—When I die I want to be cremated.

Her Husband—It's remarks of that type that burn me up!

Brown (proud of his lineage): "If you can pop in tomorrow night, I'll show you my family tree."

Smith: "Sorry, old man, but I promised to look at Orth's cabbages."

And then there was the Scotchman who ordered asparagus and left the waiter a tip.

Butler: "Did the master smack his lips after drinking that fine old whisky I served him yesterday?"

Maid: "No sir. He smacked mine."

"How's business?"

"Terrible, even the people who never pay have stopped buying."

Caller: "Is your mother engaged?"

Little Boy: "I think she's married"

"Isn't this antique furniture gorgeous? I wonder where Mrs. Batts got that huge old chest?"

"Well, they tell me her old lady was the same way."

ABOUT HOCKEY

(From the Tweed News)
The meeting to be held at Madoc tonight will decide whether Tweed is to be represented in a hockey league during this coming winter. Three clubs are quite ready to enter a Junior League limiting the age limit to twenty-two years—Stirling, Campbellford and Tweed. Madoc offered some objection to the plan, their delegates at a recent meeting pointing out that several good players from that community would be barred by the ruling. They will have a High School team in Madoc while there is also a possibility that an intermediate team will operate with Havelock, Marmora and DeFero.

W. J. Whitty, of Stirling, who is one of the men behind the present group, has pointed out that the interest in the old Trent Valley League will again be revived if the sponsors of hockey start with the younger players and we are inclined to agree with him. "We believe that Madoc could draw greater crowds to their rink when playing with Tweed, Campbellford and Stirling than in an intermediate group with Havelock and Marmora. There was always a keen rivalry between these four clubs and it still exists to a certain extent. Although Stirling had previously decided to enter the Junior O.H.A., Mr. Whitty feels that a local Junior League with an age limit would be more satisfactory. For one thing, a Junior winner must be declared in early February, which cuts the hockey season short. In an independent league, the clubs could play well into March."

The resignation of Hon. E. C. Ryckman from the Ministry of National Revenue is announced from Ottawa. The Minister has been in ill-health for some time and his retirement will occasion no surprise.

LETTERS RECEIVED FOR W. M. S. ANNIVERSARY AT WEST HUNTINGDON

The following letters were received in connection with the recent 35th anniversary held by West Huntingdon United Church W.M.S. of which a report appeared in last week's issue:

"Dear Sisters:—It was with great pleasure I received a letter from my dear friend, Mrs. Wilson, telling me you were going to have an anniversary of the organizing of the W.M.S. of West Huntingdon. I was present on that occasion and pledged myself to do all I could to help the advancement of God's Kingdom on earth. The meeting was in the parsonage with Mrs. Soxsmith in the chair. After leaving West Huntingdon I still kept my pledge to the best of my ability from this country. We always send a large sum of money to the foreign missions, until the last four years, we have not been able to send so much. It seems about all we can do to look after the poor at our door. We have had five years' of drought with very little crop, and as this is a very cold country, it takes warm clothing for little children and we are doing our bit that way.

I am proud to be associated with the ladies of West Huntingdon. I helped with the various teas and other gatherings to raise money to build the dear old church. I was present at its dedication. It was there I found the Saviour and although it was many years ago, I am still walking close to His side. Mrs. Blair and I organized the West Huntingdon choir. We were without an organ for some years, an agent put one in the church on trial and Mrs. Blair played it. I went up with her and started the singing. Through the week we asked some of the young people to help. So West Huntingdon choir was started and I am told that it is going on better than ever.

Now, my sisters, I cannot possibly be with you in person on the 22nd, but I certainly will be in spirit as I will be thinking of you. My message to you is "carry on" and may God bless you.
"Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to heaven above."

Your loving sister,
IDA T. HAWKINS.

Dear Co-Workers,—
The Aneroid Women's Missionary Society sends greetings and congratulates you on your thirty-fifth anniversary.

One of your charter members, Mrs. H. M. Blair, has been one of our active members for several years. She has been a faithful worker for our Master.

We send best wishes for the success of your work in our Saviour's cause. May he shower on you his richest blessings.

Dear Mrs. Wilson,—
Received your kind invitation to attend the 35th anniversary of your W.M.S. I should like very much to attend but I am afraid it will be impossible for me this time. I have often thought I would like to attend one of your meetings again. Perhaps I will be able sometime. Your Society is much older than the Palermo W.M.S. which is only about ten or twelve years. I will close, wishing the society every success.

of Mr. Lane and myself at not being able (because of an early engagement) to attend the 35th anniversary of the establishing in your community of such noble work as is carried on by the W.M.S. of our Church.

At the same time we wish to congratulate the members and former members on the work which they have been able to do in His name during the years. We pray God's richest blessing upon the present officers and members not only of your Auxiliary, but also the Mission Band. The present is a time of testing for us and perhaps the best thought I could leave each one of you with at this time is simply this "Thy need, Oh, God, is greater than mine."

Your fellow worker,
NELLIE LANE
Anerold, Nov. 16, 1933

To the members of W. M. S., West Huntingdon.

Dear W. M. S. Workers and Friends,
Just this week I received a letter from one of your members, Miss Sara Wilson, telling me you were holding or rather celebrating your thirty-fifth anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of West Huntingdon, and said there were only three members who are living today who were members at that time, Mrs. William Hawkins, Mrs. J. Kingston and myself, and asked if I had a message I would like to send.

First of all I extend "Greetings" to your Society, and to the faithful workers who have so nobly carried on the work all these years, and to any new members would say "Carry On."

I can say (not in a boastful manner) I am proud that I was and still am a member of this great organization, the Women's Missionary Society who has and is doing so much for our Master and for Humanity all over the land, East, West, North and South.

I remember the W.M.S. at West Huntingdon thirty-five years ago was not a large Society as perhaps it is today, but have very pleasant memories of our profitable times we spent together and of the very dear friends who were with us then and helped to do their bit.

They are not with us today, but the results and fruits of their labours still remain.
I remember too we used to pack our bales in the fall, bedding, clothing, etc., and especially remember one fall, I think I was living in the Allan Settlement, when the W.M.S. there packed bales for the people on the Prairies in Manitoba, who had lost everything in a terrible fire that swept over the Prairies. This year in the West, principally in Southern Sask., where we live, instead of Prairie fire, we have had drought for four or five years and this year the grasshoppers cleaned up nearly every thing. But with all this our people are still optimistic and are very grateful for the many generous donations sent the people through the W.M.S. and all Church organizations.

In closing I again send greetings, and my thoughts and prayers will be with you on Nov. 22nd.

Very Sincerely,
JENNIE E. BLAIR,
Whitby, Nov. 20, 1933

Dear Mrs. Wilson,—
It would be impossible for me to attend your W.M.S. meeting on Nov. 22nd, but I do appreciate very much the fact that you remembered me. I am always interested in the good work your Society is doing all the time.

Wishing you continued success in your work, I am
Yours sincerely,

VILLAGE COUNCIL

Council by resolution recommended J. B. Belshaw and C. R. Bastedo. Nomination Day was set for Friday, December 22nd, at 7 p.m.

A reduction in business assessment owing to error was made to Miss D. Caldwell, $188; J. G. Butler, $329; and L. & R. W. Melkjohn $244; making a total of $761.

Councillor Burkitt desired to know if hydro employees working on waterworks were covered by accident insurance, or any workmen employed at the dam. The matter will be investigated. He also asked about placing a guard on the east side of the southern approach to the bridge at the dam. The present condition was dangerous. The matter was left over for next year's Council.

Constable Wickett will be instructed to check up on all dogs running at large without a tag, and enforce the resolution passed this year, whereby all dogs minus tags will be shot at sight.

Mr. A. Brooks, of Carmel, through the Reeve, desired to know if it were necessary to take out a transient trader's license to do business if he were to move a grain grinder into the village. The matter was left over for investigation.

Councillor Dobble gave notice that he would at the next meeting introduce a by-law to appoint a Utilities Commission for the village, to be in charge of the Hydro and Waterworks Departments, the same to be voted on by the ratepayers.

The question of drilling wells for a new water supply was discussed. It was decided to suspend same. As the government paid 80 per cent. of labour cost, it was thought advisable to dig a well for the necessary supply.

Treasurer Patterson reported on the financial condition, and after going over the figures and estimates, it was almost assured that the balance would be on the right side of the ledger at the close of the final meeting.

fill a Christmas stocking for the children of this congregation. The first item on the program was the special speaker for the evening, Mr. Ned Potts, B.Sc. The subject Mr. Potts chose was the Great Pyramid. The Great Pyramid is the only surviving wonder of the original seven wonders of the world. He divided his talk into two sections, the first the exterior and the latter the interior. The Great Pyramid is the only pyramid that has passageways. It is not a tomb like the other ten that were built after the Great Pyramid. The theories advanced which he chose, were those by Prof. Piazzi Smyth, who was the astronomer royal for Scotland in the 19th century. The Great Pyramid was prophesied in the Old Testament in the 19th Chapter of Isaiah, 19th verse, "In that day there shall be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt and a pillar at the border thereof". By taking a map of Egypt we find this is true. Taking the coast line from Alexandria on the west to Port Said on the East, the coast line is the arc of a perfect circle, at the centre of which stands the Great Pyramid. The Pyramid stands on the borders of Egypt on the edge of the Libyan Desert. Another thing, it is the centre of the land surface of the earth, that is the parallel latitude on which the Pyramid is situated and east and west the land is a maximum. It is also true from north to south the land surface is a maximum and no other part of the earth's surface will this be found. Furthermore, the land to east of the Pyramid equals the land to the west of it and the same is true with the land to the north and south. When the Great Pyramid was built, the sides were covered with white limestone, each face having an area of over 5 acres, the stones each weighing some 16 tons, were fitted so closely that it is hard to work a piece of thin tissue paper between the cracks. The stones are about 6 feet long and they do not vary in surface more than .01 inches. Face angles are cut to an accuracy of 210 of a second of angular measurement which compares to our modern date fineness of lenses of glasses. The Great Pyramid is built of red granite, covered by white marble-like limestone. The reason given for the covering was to withstand the changing climate of Egypt from that of extreme heat in the day and the severe cold at night. Granite cannot stand this sudden change. The rock on which the pyramid is built is believed to agree with the curvature of the earth, so built to withstand earthquakes. It also proved that the builders knew that the earth was round. Possibly the most important feature of the pyramid is that it is the only building in the world which is exactly true north, south, east and west. The North Pole star not being stationary, as it revolves around the North pole, it was necessary that a very exact telescopic readings and extremely complicated mathematics be applied in order to accomplish their feat. The date of the construction was about 2160BC. By illustrations Mr. Potts showed a cross section of the Pyramid. The entrance at the north points to the approximate north star and the second line inside the passage pointed to the direction of the star eta in the constellation of Pleiades. That is to say that in the year 2170BC, the North star shone down the long passage of 350 feet and at the same time the star eta was directly overhead. This cannot happen again till after the lapse of 25,827 years. This latter figure is found in several cases. We get it from the length of the two diagonals of the base whose sum is 25826.54", and the perimeter of the pyramid at the 50th level is again the same number of inches. The architectural knowledge in these olden days must have been wonderful. Consider a scale of 100 inches to equal one day and we find the length of each side of the base to be 36,524.2 inches which equal 365.242 days, which is our solar year and by the four sides we get one leap year, which makes up our leap year. The height is 4844' or 5813' Calculating the circumference of a circle whose radius equals 5813' we find it to equal 365.242, proving that they knew the value of "Pi." Again the height of 5813 and multiply it by 10 to the 9th, we get 91,840 miles, which is the distance from the earth to the sun. The reason why 10 to the ninth is taken is because of the repeated times this figure comes up. The base has such an angle that for every 10 units the base goes in, the sides go up nine. The pyramid is made up of ten parts, 5 angles and 5 sides, and the sun only shines on nine. Another interesting point is that twice a year the pyramid casts no shadow at 12 noon, it being the only building in the world that twice a year casts no shadow on either itself or on the ground. The interior is made up of entrance, conical plugs, ascending chamber, Queen's chamber, Grand Gallery and Kings Chamber. The entrance first leads downward, showing the fall of man. The passageways and all interior is finished with the finest granite and with most accurate workmanship. The conical plugs were to guard the chambers above. The King's Chamber is made up of finely cut beams of stone weighing over 80 tons each. These stones were raised over 200 feet and then set in position. They span 30 feet and although they are carrying millions of tons of rock above them they are still intact. In the King's Chamber there is a chest or coffer carved out of a single block of granite and the measurement of the outside exactly equalling twice that of the inside. The inside holds exactly four quarters of British measure of wheat which is 32 bushels. Perhaps some of the most interesting features of this pyramid are the prophecies which are derived from the measurements inside the pyramid on the two scales, one of one inch per year and the other of one inch per month. It prophesies the birth of Christ and His death when 31 1/2 years old; the difference between the Christian Sabbath and the Jewish Sabbath; the birth of Adam 4000BC; the fall of the rule of Turkey over the Promised Land in 1844; the Great War in 1917 as the date when Turkey would be driven out of the Promised Land. There is a high step in the Grand Gallery prophesying the rise of Great Britain to world-wide eminence during the years between 1844 and 1882. It gives the date of Aug. 4th 1914, as the beginning of a Great War and Nov. 11, 1918 as the date when that war would end. It shows in May 1928 the start of the world chaos when the world would go wild over stocks. It prophesies the start of another war in Sept. 1936 to put the Jews back in their own land. It is also the final year of the great "Seven Times". Germany is today starting to put the Jews back in their own land. Mr. Potts gave the talk in a very concise manner and the address was highly appreciated by all.

Miss Alice Calow, B.A., accompanied by Mrs. Alger, gave two selections on the violin, which were well rendered. Mr. K. Morrow moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Ned Potts, Miss Calow and Mrs. Alger, which was seconded by J. Cranston. The prize donated by Miss Isabel Murray, R.N., was won by Wallace Cook. Rev. A. S. McConnell then invited all the members to the Bible Class on Sunday next, after which he closed the meeting with prayer.

SYNOPSIS: Ruth Warren, who lived in the East, is willed three-fourths interest in the "Dead Lantern" ranch in Arizona by her only brother, who is reported to have met his death while on business in Mexico. Arriving in Arizona with her husband, who has ailing lungs and their small child, they learn that the ranch is located 85 miles from the nearest railroad. Old Charley Thane, rancher and runner, at mail carrier agrees to take them to the "Dead Lantern" gate, 5 miles from the ranch house. As they trudged wearily through a gulch approaching the ranch house, a voice whispers "Go back. Go back." Ruth's husband caught in a rain shortly after their arrival contracts pneumonia and passes away before medical aid can be brought. Ruth, penniless and without friends attempts to carry on but is balked at almost every turn by the crafty and plotting Snavelly. Despite obstacles of all kind Ruth gives notes on her ranch interest to purchase cattle. She is assisted by Old Charley Thane and his son, Will Thane. A Mexican family has been hired to assist with the work. A peculiar sickness develops with the livestock. Snavelly calls it "liver fever" and says he has a powder for the water to cure the disease. Ruth discovers trickery in Snavelly's tactics of poisoning her cattle, but says nothing, waiting for additional evidence. Drought is overcome by sinking a well in the ravine, getting water for the perishing stock. At the round-up Ruth has enough stock to sell to meet her notes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Mr. Martin gazed thoughtfully at the ceiling above Ruth's head. Presently he asked, "Did this man know that you were the only beneficiary of your brother's will?"

"He didn't even know about me until I came to the ranch. I suppose after we'd talked he found out there was no one else—I told him my share was three-quarters. He read the will, too."

"Then I think we might attempt to solve the riddle in this manner: the man may have thought that since you were rather new to ranching he could perhaps encourage you to sell to him your interest—" Ruth nodded confirmation, and Mr. Martin continued, "He could have given you a cash payment for your holdings, and you might have gone away, assuming that everything had come to a satisfactory conclusion."

Ruth hesitated. "Has my so-called partner committed any crime in not telling me that I had no rights on the place?"

The lawyer pursed his lips. "No crime, exactly, but it should be plain to anyone what his motives were."

"What ought I to do?" asked Ruth.

"I think, if I were you, I should tell him that you have consulted an attorney and that you intend to have the will probated. Once that has been adjusted, I do not believe anything further will be done; except, of course, the selling of the ranch and the division of the proceeds according to both your interests."

"Oh," Ruth smiled uncertainly as she stood up. "That's a relief, I think I'll be going now. I'll decide later just what I want to do."

Mr. Martin smiled slightly. "You owe me nothing—but here is my card. I rather feel that we shall meet again."

ther will be done; except, of course, the selling of the ranch and the division of the proceeds according to both your interests."

"Oh," Ruth smiled uncertainly as she stood up. "That's a relief, I think I'll be going now. I'll decide later just what I want to do."

the afternoon, which was spent at a moving picture show, and later at dinner, Ruth's mind was busy. It was maddening that the first time she had been able to leave the ranch and enjoy herself, she could think of nothing but the ranch. She imagined that Will did not notice her preoccupied manner.

This thought was easy in the lighted restaurant, humming with the voices and laughter of many people. But twenty miles out of town—the roadster throbbed into a world of blackness which never lifted—Ruth's part in her imaginary conversation with Snavelly became less aggressive.

By the time the car was entering the arroyo east of the barn, Ruth had grave doubts about saying anything, whatever, to Snavelly. His desire to have the ranch and to be by himself amounted to a mania—what would he do if she were to tell him that the ranch was to be sold? And she was eighty-five miles from help.

"How long did you say you and your father were going to be away?" asked Ruth, as Will drove past the barn.

"About a week. We're leaving tomorrow morning and expect to be home again next Saturday evening."

As they were helping David, who was more than half asleep, out of the car, Ruth thanked Will for the trip. Then said hesitatingly, "I wish you and your father would come over soon—I can't promise you a very cheerful dinner, but—"

"Fine!" Will interrupted tactfully. "You set the day and we'll certainly raise the dust getting here."

"Well, how about coming over the day after you get back—Sunday?" Will nodded. "That'll be all right. We'll show up about noon."

"I wonder—" Ruth paused.

"What?"

"I hate awfully to admit it, but I lost your father's revolver—it was buried when the old house fell. I wish you'd try to get me another like it in Los Angeles. Could you? He's asked me once or twice why I didn't wear it when I went riding, but I didn't want to tell him."

"Good Lord!" Is that all you've been worrying about? Well, forget it right now! Dad's lost more than one gun in his time—as a matter of fact, he was forced to give one or two of 'em away. Sure, I can get you one. But say, you should have said something about this before. Here—Will drew a revolver from the pocket of the car—"keep this until I see you again."

Ruth took the gun without much wailing. She stood watching while he turned the car about. He leaned from the seat, "We'll see you next week—good night."

As she answered, Ruth saw the slowly moving lights swing toward the gulch, and gasped; Snavelly was standing near the fence, partly concealed by a bush.

She ran back to the house. What had Snavelly been doing in the vicinity of the gulch? As she stood on the dark porch Ruth suddenly decided to find Ann.

She knocked on the giantess' door. After a moment Ann slowly opened it. A low-turned lamp burned in the room. She had taken off her shoes and shirt.

"Oh, are you up yet? I just thought I'd tell you that we've come back. Have you been reading, Ann?"

"No, I can't read."

"But why are you dressed? Have you been anywhere?"

The huge woman lowered her eye and slowly nodded.

"Ann! Have you been down to the rock?"

"I got to go down there—sometimes." Her eyes darted fearfully in the direction of Snavelly's door and her voice dropped to a husky whisper. "Oh, Gawd, Miss Ruth—you take yo' little boy an' go 'way from this place!" Ann stepped back and softly closed the door.

Snavelly eyed her cautiously when, at breakfast, Ruth gave him the packet of notes which represented his share of the cattle sale. There was something oddly apologetic and inquisitive in his voice as he asked, "Didn't have no trouble in payin' off the note, did you?"

"Oh, no," answered Ruth as she seated herself at the table. She was thinking of the money she had just given Snavelly—it had not been earned through any effort of his.

"Nice sort of feller, that Witherspoon," he remarked, guardedly.

"He seemed pleasant," said Ruth.

That morning Snavelly did not ride; he stayed in the neighborhood of the corrals. More than once Ruth saw him watching her.

After the noon meal, Ruth went to the corrals and caught up Brisket and Sanchez. To her surprise, Snavelly came from the blacksmith shop and helped her saddle the horses.

"Goin' for a ride, eh?" he asked with a strained smile.

"Yes; the mail. Today's Saturday."

"I was jest gettin' set to go down that-a-way myself. I'll be startin' directly."

Perhaps David and I will see you, then," replied Ruth.

Snavelly did not speak for a moment; then said casually, "No use in you goin'—without you're set on it, I can bring the mail."

Ruth ignored this suggestion and helped David to mount.

As she and David rode along the faintly marked road, the girl's mind was busy. The situation on the Dead Lantern was drawing to a climax; it seemed to her as though the very air was tensely charged.

Since the evening before, Ruth had definitely connected Snavelly with the voice in the gulch; he had been standing there by the fence when she and Will came home, and Ann had heard the voice that same evening. She tried to recall Snavelly's whereabouts on the occasions when the voice had spoken. At first, she told herself that the man had two or three perfect alibis—yet, were they? Did she know positively that he gone to Palo Verde on the night of the storm? One thing certain, he had not brought back any Mexicans. And that evening when she and Kenneth and David had first come through the gulch, Snavelly had apparently been milking at the barn—yet, Ruth had never known of his milking since. True, he always avoided going through the gulch as though he were afraid of it. But that did not prove that he had nothing to do with the voice. Perhaps he went around, merely to give her the idea that he was afraid. She began to feel that the only thing which definitely mitigated against Snavelly being responsible for the voice was that the legend of the whispering rock was very old—there was no getting around that. Every one knew of the legend; even Don Francisco had heard of it as a boy. She determined to explore the gulch.

But Ruth did not explore the gulch that day. In the mail was a letter addressed to J. B. Snavelly. In the upper left-hand corner of the envelope was the business head of the broker, Witherspoon.

Snavelly had evidently changed his mind about fixing the gate. He was near the saddle shed when Ruth and David returned. Ruth nodded to him but made no other answer to his questioning eyes, until she and David had turned out their horses. Then Ruth walked up to Snavelly, the letter in her hand. "Well, here it is," she said looking him full in the eyes.

For an instant, Ruth thought he was going to pretend surprise, but he suddenly began to laugh. It was a desperate laugh, somehow horrible, yet the laugh was meant to convey that he was greatly tickled, as though he had a tremendous joke on Ruth—a friendly joke in which he expected to be joined. Ruth did smile.

"Dogged if this ain't th' beatin' at!" Snavelly exclaimed. "You see why I done it, don't you partner?"

Ruth had not been wholly sure of what Snavelly had done or why he was receiving a letter from Witherspoon, up to the time he began to laugh. Now she said very soberly, "I hope I know why you did it, Mr. Snavelly."

Snavelly swallowed twice before he spoke. "Well I was aimin' to tell you jest as soon as it was settled. Last month when you did get enough cattle money an' met the note, I jest figured I'd let you go ahead an' pay it anyways, an' then su'prise you." His lips smiled.

"If I had not been able to meet my note, Mr. Snavelly, is it not true that you would have had my entire interest in the ranch?" asked Ruth quietly.

Snavelly spoke glibly. "Not at all, Mrs. Warren. Such a thing ain't possible because we're partners. Parker or anybody else could have took your interest away from you if you could not pay the note. But not me; I'm your partner."

It was a moment before Ruth could reply. She saw the deadliness behind the man's eyes.... if she could only keep him good-natured until next week, "It was very thoughtful of you," she smiled; "it's nice to know I was safeguarded all the time. Well," she turned, "it's all over now; the note is paid and the ranch has been improved."

"It sure has," replied Snavelly. He watched the girl as she walked toward the ranch house, his pale eyes fastened on the retreating figure, suspicion and hatred mingled on his face.

The next morning after breakfast, Ruth entered her room. She sat for a time looking at her trunk, thinking. Suddenly she rose, unlocked the trunk and took out the Quaker Oats box on which was scrawled, "for liver fever."

Going into the kitchen, she asked Ann to keep an eye on David for a hour, and taking up a potato and a paring knife, left by the front door. Sugarfoot greeted her and for a moment the girl looked down at the little dog. Once more, she asked the question which had never been answered, "Sugarfoot, why didn't you die when you ate the meat Ann poisoned?" Sugarfoot wagged himself knowingly.

NEWS FROM YARKER

Splendid congregations attended the services in the United and Anglican churches here on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Spencer, of Camden East, and Rev. McKenzie, were the ministers in charge.

The Ladies' Aid held a very fine Bazaar and supper in the church hall on Saturday afternoon and evening with a splendid program, consisting of banjo and violin numbers by Miss Pauline Buck, Miss Emery and Miss Wallace with an amusing play as the last number. The proceeds amounted to over sixty dollars.

The Public School teachers are busy training the children for their Christmas concert.

Dr. Whytock is all settled in the home he purchased from Mrs. Connolly recently.

The W.M.S. and Ladies Aid are holding meetings this week and will elect officers for the coming New Year.

Murray Ashley has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

Although the weather has been stormy the Tuesday night prayer meetings are kept going, with the pastor in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Shangraw, of Colebrook, spent an evening with friends here last week.

A Prayer

Grant us, dear Lord, the grace to bear the heavy loads that seem unfair, the little prickling thorns, the jest that makes our weakness plain.

The darling plans overturned, the careless touch upon our grief, the slight we have not earned, the rasp of pain, dear Lord, today

Least all these fretting things make needless care, Oh give, we pray, The heart that trusts and sings—

If we could see beyond today As God can see—

If all the clouds should roll away, The shadows flee—

O'er present griefs we would not fret, Past sorrows we would soon forget, For many joys are waiting yet, For you and me.

Mr. Editor—Can we thank some of your readers who have told us they miss our items.

It is said this may indicate that the Consolidated Smelters are taking over the property, as the latter company would install a new power plant, in the event of their buying the mining property. Mr. C. E. Kilmer, of Toronto, and his partner, Mr. Gilson, also of Toronto, are in Cordova this week, overseeing the cleaning out of the old ninety-five foot shaft on the mining property formerly owned by Mr. Ledyard, but which now belongs to Mr. Kilmer. The actual work is in charge of Mr. J. D. Cummings, who with four other men has been working at the shaft for the past two weeks.

CAMPBELLFORD — Caught in the act of operating a still early on Wednesday morning, last week, when Provincial Constable William McBrian of Brighton with Chief Constable George Hardy, of Campbellford, swooped down on his Centre Street Campbellford home, and forced an entrance. MARMORA — Late on Monday evening last week, Mrs. Jane Thompson, widow of John Thompson, passed away at her home on Forsythe St. at the age of 75. The deceased lady had been ailing for some time and her end was not altogether unexpected. She was born in Rawdon township, her parents being the late John and Ann Wilson. She was of industrious habits, and her gracious manner won her a great many friends. Five children are left to mourn her loss, Wilson, of Rawdon Township; Mrs. John Wallace, of Campbellford; Mrs. Wm. Rylott, of Healey Falls; Mrs. Andrew Hagg, of Hards Station and Mrs. E. Wagner of Cornwall. Her husband predeceased her a little over five years ago. The funeral service was conducted at her late residence at 2 p.m. on Thursday, by the pastor, Rev. C. W. FRANKFORD — Two men broke into the house of Mitchell Revoy, 38, on the outskirts of Frankford, early on Saturday, and robbed the aged man of about $20 after slugging him into insensibility with a cane. Revoy's condition was not serious. Many hours after the robbery, when he regained consciousness, Revoy called the police. He said the men gained entrance by way of a cellar window. When they reached his bedroom they picked up the cane that was lying beside the bed and slugged him with it. They took $20 in notes and some change from a pocket of his nightgown. Early last spring at Trenton, Revoy was beaten and robbed of $5 by a man who subsequently was sentenced to five years in penitentiary. Eighteen hours after the hold-up, Douglas Smith, aged 22, and his brother Cleveland, aged 18; William DeLine, also 18 years, and Wm. While the City of Toronto, the University and Eastern football circles in which Copp was a leading figure prepared to pay tribute to the young medical student at his funeral, the total reward for capture of his killer mounted to $5,600. The city increased its reward from $1,000 to $2,500, and another $600 was put up by private citizens. Every Toronto senior football team will be represented at the funeral tomorrow. Winnipeg, who played Argonauts here on Saturday in the Canadian semifinal were represented at the funeral by Honorary President Les Izzard and President Barry Bain of that club. Attorney-General W. H. Price of Ontario declared the Province was determined to co-operate with the municipalities to put an end to lawlessness "which seems to ape that existing in many United States centres". Buckley's goes many times as far as ordinary cough remedies, because it can be diluted with water without impairing its marvelous healing and soothing qualities, and because only a few doses are needed to put the most stubborn cough or cold out of business. Even one sip of Buckley's gives unmistakable relief.

That's why people say, "It acts like a flash!"
"A single sip proves it!"
No dose — no sweet sticky syrup — but a scientific formula that stops the cough — breaks and soothes. Play safe. Refuse substitutes. Buckley's is sold everywhere.

S. H. S. LITERARY SOCIETY

On Friday, Nov. 24th, the Literary Society of Stirling High School held its November meeting with a number of visitors present. The chairman, Fred Joblin, opened the meeting by greeting the visitors and thanking Miss Calow for having taken charge of the program. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and the real program followed. The orchestra gave two selections "Tres Jolie" and "Sir Gallahad". Reginald Mathison then played a violin solo, Beethoven's "Minuet in G", following which were two songs "Early in the Morning" and "The Minstrel Boy", sung by six First Form girls, Marie Luery, Marie Fitzpatrick, Hilma Mathison, Reta Sheridan, Mable Lake and Ruby Wannamaker. The next item was a talk by Mary Crawford, about her trip to Ireland. She took those present on a tour of the most important parts of Ireland and England. "We left Stirling at five o'clock in the morning and motored to Quebec, where we took the ocean liner. The Duchess of York, for Ireland. The rooms on the boat we found to be very luxurious and life during the voyage is made very interesting by having all sorts of amusements and games in which we can occupy ourselves in our spare time. Concerts and dances are held in the evening, while in the afternoon one can read in the library or enjoy amusements present on board. As we neared Ireland we found it to be very different from our own home land. The grass is as green as the Irish have said it was, the country is very rugged. Finally we leave the liner and reach Drogheda, a typical Irish town. The people are very interested in American people as they call us, and are ready to tell about their land. They tell that they expected us to be brown in colour and to be decorated with feathers. The next place visited is the city of Dublin, the capital of Ireland. Here we spend many days sight-seeing. From Dublin we go to London, where we visit the House of Parliament and Westminster Abbey. Both buildings contain beautiful things and the jewels of Westminster Abbey are very dazzling and costly. At last we leave London to return to Dublin and later to take the boat called the "Montcalm" for Canada. Our return journey was full of surprises too. The most beautiful thing we see is the setting of the sun on an iceberg in the distance. The next most important is a school of whales beside the boat. But finally we reach Quebec and later the little town of Stirling."

Although some of us have never visited England and Ireland, we must now have, after Mary's vivid description, a true picture of those countries which we hear so much about.

Margaret Bateman then sang "The Rose of Tralee" and four boys, Clifford Holmes, John Munro, Stewart McGowan and Kenneth Stapley also sang "St. Patrick was a Gentleman".

ST. PAUL'S Y. P. S.

St. Paul's Young People's Society met on Monday evening in the church parlours under the direction of the devotional department and with an attendance of 75. The President, Mr. Harry Hulin, was in charge of the meeting. Responsive Scripture readings, Psalm nineteen, followed by prayer by Mr. Wm. Fitchett. Marietta McKee delighted the audience with a piano solo. The outstanding feature of the program was an address by Rev. John Trimpour, of Eldorado. The speaker spoke on the subject "Characters I met on the Wayside Inn of Life." The characters were taken from actual experiences while acting as Y.M.C.A. Secretary with General Allenby's forces during his Mesopotamia campaign. The speaker took the audience on his trip to Mesopotamia, describing very minutely the outstanding points of interest, at every port of call. This included stops at Japan, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Singapore, Colombo, Calcutta, Bombay; entering into Mesopotamia, and here we stopped at Bussor, Amora and Bagdad. Rev. Mr. Trimpour who is a keen student of human nature discovered in each of these places some outstanding characters. To add to the interest of this address the speaker displayed a large number of curios, picked up in his travels. This address was listened to with rapt attention and thanks of the young people are due to Rev. Mr. Trimpour for this very educative and interesting meeting. The usual Mirrah benediction closed this very helpful meeting.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

Miss J. Moffatt, asst. 1st vice-President, had charge of the excellent program on Monday evening. Mr. Roy Eggleston acted as Chairman for the evening. Mrs. L. Rodgers read the Scripture lesson from the 24th Psalm. Rev. Koffend led in prayer. The Southern Cross were the leaders in the aeroplane race. The first number on the program was a reading by Mrs. Hammond, one of the chapters from the book "Guest Rooms" by a former minister of St. Andrews, Rev. F. A. Robinson. The chapter told of a minister's stay for a week in a small, very dismal and dilapidated town, "Sullivan's Mills". Three signs on one stone read: "Undertaking Parlours, Ice Cream and Chocobites and Skunks Skinned", and could anyone imagine eating ice cream in an undertaking parlour where skunks were skinned. The story went on to tell of the hostess with her untidy appearance, the badly ventilated bedroom, as untidy as the hostess, and the hard, bumpy bed. Hymn 142 was sung, the music adapted from one of Franz Joseph Haydn's compositions. Mrs. Melkiejohn then gave a splendid talk on the life of Joseph Haydn (1732-1809). He was born of poor parents on the Austrian frontier, and suffered a great deal of poverty and privation during his early life. He produced his first opera when about 19, but this had a short-lived success. His compositions were finally brought to the notice of Prince Esterhazy. Haydn composed many symphonies, and at the age of 66 produced his great oratorio, "The Creation" from which Mr. Chas. Allan played an instrumental, "The Heavens are Telling", which was so thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Harper Rollins gave the topic on "Causes and Cures of Poverty," a very suitable and well prepared topic for the present times. Mrs. Rollins first dwelt on how to make the best out of life and so cure poverty. Laziness and its results, thriftlessness, a very close relation of laziness. The best workers are seldom out of a job. Competition has become so terrific and life so strenuous that one needs to be armed with just as much mental culture as possible. "If you want knowledge" said Ruskin, "you must pay for it." "The thing thou cravest so waits in the distance, Essential to thy soul and thy existence, Live worthy of it and it shall come." Rev. Mr. Koffend sang a solo "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer." The concluding number was a very humorous reading, one of Edgar Guest's poems, "My Aunt's Bonnet", by Mrs. Diabrowe.

CURRENT COMMENT

Many girls are getting men's wages nowadays. But, then, the wives always have.

Municipal Councils will wind up their year's duties to-morrow and will adjourn sine die.

A week from to-morrow (Friday) evening, the local civic Nomination will be held — at seven o'clock.

No, dear readers, the "family ties" so often referred to are not those you give your relatives at Christmas.

Today is the last day on which local residents may pay their taxes without being assessed a penalty of five per cent.

"There ought to be a name," howled the infuriated motorist, "for the careless pedestrian." Up to now he has always been called "the late."

About the time we think an old joke has performed its last service to newspaper, magazine and musical comedy, we turn the dial and there it is on our radio.

The pre-Christmas shopping season is rapidly becoming shorter. Those who have not completed their lists would be wise to do so as early as possible. There are many suggestions offered in the advertisements in this week's issue.

By doing their Christmas shopping in Stirling, the people of the village and district can help to make conditions a great deal better for hundreds of their fellow-citizens, as well as those in business and the employees of local businesses.

Brrrr! Winter sure arrived in earnest over the week-end when the mercury fell to about ten below zero in this district. It is to be hoped that we have most of our coldest winter before Christmas, which was the case last year.

Something new in radio music is promised soon. Nobody who listens to a great orchestra over the radio to-day gets the music as it sounds to those in the room with broadcasting chains has stated that the solution has been found. It is only a question now of waiting until the big auditoriums in which the great symphony orchestras perform are equipped with the new system of picking up the music as it really is produced.

The reason for that is that the radio picks it from one spot, while the listener in the room hears it with both ears and gets the basses on the left, the strings in the middle and the horns and tympani on the right in their true relation to each other. A radio engineer who has been working on the problem for one of the big U. S.

Christmas Trade

It is a pleasure to visit the stores of Stirling at this time of the year and note the excellent lines of holiday goods that are on display. In practically every line, the merchandise that is being offered the public would be a credit to merchants in towns and cities several times as large as this. Business men often hesitate as to whether they will buy this or that line of goods which involves a large outlay of capital. They probably feel they are taking some risk of loss. But they also feel that their patrons want and are entitled to the best possible merchandise, and so it is up to the merchant to supply the demand.

In the spirit of reciprocity, it is good to show appreciation of the merchants' efforts by buying at home and encouraging our stores. At least look over the holiday displays here before going out of town to do your Christmas buying. It will cost nothing, gives the town merchant the opportunity he deserves, and is bound to create new satisfied customers. Read the advertisements and gift suggestions in this issue.

Let's Catch the Spirit of Christmas

This season of the year brings to mind the great purpose behind the first Christmas message. Many years have passed since that great event was heralded when it was announced that the Prince of Peace was born. Since that event there has been a lot of history written. Peace has not become a reality. At the present time there are deep rumbles of war and disturbances. The whole of the universe is upset because men refuse to recognize their duty to their fellow men. This is the season of the year when all should strive to uphold the ideal spirit of love. Down all selfish desires and share with the other fellow. Bring happiness and cheer into the home by giving a little fellowship and that loving hand. If everyone in Stirling would strive to put into practice the spirit of the season there would soon be a changed world.

People can spread the gospel of peace. Communities should do all in their power to bring about better relationships. Countries should make a sincere effort to further a lasting peace. Then there would be a general world-wide peace movement started. It would not be a legislation movement, but rather educational. This would unite all in one great family compact. Nations would become helpful and loving to each other. People would live in peace and contentment. Why all this change? Because men would realize that the greatest joy in life is to be found in doing something for someone else. If you do not believe this just try it out and you will be convinced. It is what is needed in the world today. This is the season of the year to put it into effect. If it is done a great transformation will be wrought in Stirling and its influence will continue throughout the year.

What Others Say

WHY SHOULD HE NOT SPEAK?

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

There was quite a flare-up when it was announced that Premier Bennett was going to speak over the radio coast-to-coast hook-up. There were those who declared it was plain propaganda, and that the National Broadcasting Commission had no right to grant him space. One report from Ottawa says that Mr. Bennett insisted upon paying for the time on the air himself. He made his address and nothing happened.

Our system is not right, otherwise there could have been no objection to the Prime Minister speaking to the people of Canada. The trouble is that Mr. Bennett is regarded as the leader of the Conservative party as well as the Prime Minister of the Dominion.

We would be much better off if affairs were so conducted that our Prime Minister were regarded as the leader of the nation rather than the head of a group of people of a certain political belief.

How such a desideratum could be accomplished we do not know. Mr. Bennett, like any other Prime Minister, must come into office by the political path, and if he were to loosen his close connection with the people who elected him after attaining office he might find it difficult to be hailed as the hundred per cent leader for the party when the next election time arrived.

The intense devotion to political strife hurts us. If the Prime Minister of this country is not entitled to discuss national matters with the people, on the understanding, of course, that he refrain from making political capital, then we have a strange outlook.

NOMINATION TIME-KILLING

(Huntsville Reporter)

The Barrie Examiner quotes a contemporary, who points out the amount of time-killing at annual nominations. The practice of covering the whole list of retiring representatives, including Council, Education and Utilities, leaves the ratepayers bewildered and usually tired out, before any fresh effort is infused by new nominees, from whom, as pointed out a few days ago by a Forester correspondant, reasonable criticism is usually looked for.

After all, the discussion of civic affairs is most helpful when all angles of administration are dealt with. No council is entirely perfect, but human nature scarcely permits any such admission, when representatives are reviewing their own efforts.

If time permitted a broader discussion, with an open forum in which ratepayers would be permitted to ask questions and receive courteous replies, would add materially to the value of our annual civic discussions.

Some years ago the experiment of holding nominations at the noon hour, and reserving the entire evening for discussion, was tried. It was conceded to be productive of two advantages. The list of nominees was kept within reasonable bounds, and this can scarcely be said to obtain under our present system. It also permitted the nomination hour, from 7:30 to 8:30, to be used for discussion, and gave broader opportunity to the ratepayers to participate.

If this is deemed impracticable, the situation could be improved by the year's review being confined to the heads of the various civic bodies, thereafter permitting new nominees to enter the discussion.

Some steps should at least be taken to render the nomination meetings more generally helpful.

December brings real wintry days and snow flurries, fast reminding us that Christmas is coming closer and closer. Great excitement reigns among the children who are trying to be on their good behaviour lest Santa Claus be grieved.

The last two weeks we have reported on the deaths of two of our aged residents and this week we regret very much to report the death of another, who was one of our residents for many years, but who just of late years moved to Tweed, living a retired life in the person of Mr. James Walker, who had reached the four score age. He was a member of the United Church, a good neighbour, kind husband and loving father. The funeral service was held at Thomasburg on Friday afternoon. Rev. Hays-Pringle preached a very impressive sermon. Rev. Hill assisted with the service. Mr. Frank Palmer sang by request a favourite hymn of the deceased "The Unclouded Day." Left to mourn his loss besides his sorrowing wife is one son, Roy, of Madoc, and four daughters, Mrs. Murney Moreland, of this place, Mrs. Arthur Cooney, of Madoc, Mrs. Arthur Blake-ly, of Madoc, and Mrs. Everett McCann, of Foxboro. To those who mourn is extended the sympathy of the whole community.

Mr. Albert McMillan and Mr. Hugh McMillan spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. William Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brough, Mrs. J. Brough and Mr. George Brough spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burke, it being the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer and their family are holidaying in Belleville these days.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Geen, Miss Mabel Geen and Mr. A. W. Brough motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Morton, Bel-ville, whose son, Donald, is very seriously ill.

occasion of Mr. Brough's birthday. The cake held only — candles. We wish him many years of prosperity and usefulness.

Mrs. Fred Grey and Miss Mary Grey, of Latta, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Burke.

Some of our number took in the oyster supper at Thomasburg on Friday evening, wending their way home at the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Miss Bertha Smith, of Holloway, is holidaying with her sister, Mrs. Gordon Mitts.

Word has just reached us of the death of Mr. Donald Morton. Funeral service Monday in Thomasburg Anglican church. Sympathy is extended to those bereaved.

(Too Late for Last Week)
Last week we reported the death of one of our oldest ladies and to-day we report the death of one of our oldest gentlemen in the person of Mr. Walker, who died on Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chester Adams. Mr. Walker had reached the ripe old age of eighty-eight and was of a retiring disposition, respected by all who knew him. He and his wife moved to this part a number of years ago, coming from the West. His aged wife is at present in Belleville hospital. The funeral service was held in the United Church, Thomasburg, interment also being made at that place. Mr. Frank Palmer, in his capable manner sang "No Night There". The sympathy of the community goes out to those who mourn. In the autumn of life the leaves do fade.

And are falling down from the tree.
Will we be ready when the last call comes—
When we put out to sea?
Can we say our anchor is holding fast,
And grounded in Jesus' love,

Are we sure that our Pilot is guiding our bark
And will land us in Heaven above.

The Teacher Training classes have closed with a good number receiving their diplomas. Those who are receiving their diplomas at the United Church are as follows: Mrs. Bea Brough, Mrs. Gordon Mitts, Mrs. F. Fulmer, Mrs. Sylvanus Mitts, Mrs. R. J. Merriam, Mrs. Fred McCauley, Mrs. Roy Mitts, Miss Robena Merriam, Miss Mabel Geen, Miss Mary Dean, Mr. Levi Rutter, Mr. Arthur Brough, Mr. John Mitts. To these we offer congratulations.

Mr. H. R. Burke, who has been ill for the past three weeks, is able to be around again.

Mrs. J. J. Brough, Mrs. John Geen and Mrs. Alger Post spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Palmer.

Miss Margaret Wright, school teacher, is boarding in our midst now.

TRIAL BY JURY ASKED IN ROBBERY HEARING

Belleville — William Deline and William Davis, alias Edwards, both of Trenton, elected trial by jury when charged with robbing Michael Revoy, of Frankford, with violence on the night of Dec. 1st last. Cleveland and Douglas Smith, two other Trenton youths, were not asked to plead when facing the same charge during Monday morning's local Police Court proceedings, held before Magistrate Mikel. The preliminary hearing has been set for Monday morning next.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., suggested a bail of $10,000 in each case to be set, owing to the serious nature of the charge. His Worship set the bail at the above figure and the quartet were later lodged in the county jail awaiting their preliminary hearing of next week.

Three of the quartet were arrested on Saturday, Dec. 2, at Trenton, while Davis, alias Edwards, was not apprehended until the following day. The four men are alleged by the Provincial Police, who investigated, to have entered and robbed the home of Michael Revoy, an 88-year-old resident of Frankford, while he was sleeping. Two are alleged to have entered the building and slugged the elderly man over the head. After subduing Revoy, the robbers are charged with stealing $20.00 and Revoy's purse, which contained other money not accounted for.

BRIDE AND GROOM SHOWERED

On Friday evening Carmel Sunday School members and residents of that community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carlisle in honour of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle and Mr. John Carlisle, who will in the near future be leaving that vicinity to make their home elsewhere. The Sunday School presented George with a Bible and the friends of the community presented Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle with an occasional chair. Mr. John Carlisle was the recipient of a club bag. The following address was read:

Carmel, Dec. 8, 1933
To Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle and John.—
We your friends and neighbours have come to the home of your parents that we may show our esteem and good will toward you at this time, when with regret we understand you are about to leave our community and make your home elsewhere. We do not wish to flatter you, and yet we do say sincerely that in church and community life you have ever stood for unity and progress. You have given us valuable leadership and through the years you have endeared yourselves to our hearts. What is greater or what is more valuable than the favour of good men when it is won without surrendering of a principle.
With all our hearts we wish you success and the blessing of God. We ask you to accept these gifts, and may they remind you of your warm friends at Carmel.

Signed on behalf of the Carmel Community — M. J. Pyear and J. R. Gilla.
On Monday evening friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Bonarlaw and presented the bride and groom with an address and miscellaneous shower. The address was as follows:

Bonarlaw, Dec. 11th, 1933
Dear Evelyn and George.—
We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to spend a social hour with you, and to extend to you both our best wishes for your future happiness. Your home here Evelyn has been cheerful, and we hope your new home may be as bright. You have spent the greater part of your childhood days in this community and we have witnessed in you a love of truth and honour and a spirit of loyalty to your church and home. May the coming years be full of happiness and may your life be such as will shed an influence for good on all with whom you come in contact.

Although you, George, have not been a resident of our community you are held in our highest respect and we congratulate you on your choice you have made for your partner through life.

Evelyn, you will be greatly missed in your home, as well as in the community. However, through time immemorial, the human race have received who as new home was erected, as our homes are the background of our beloved Canada, and so from the poet we quote these few lines:

Just Home and Love! the words are small Four little letters into one:
And yet you will not find in all
The wide and gracious range of speech
Two more so tenderly complete.
When Angels talk in Heaven above,
I'm sure they have no words more sweet
Than Home and Love.
Just Home and Love, it's hard to guess
Which of the two were best to gain.
Home without Love is bitterness,
Love without Home is often pain.
No. Each alone will seldom do,
Somewhere they travel hand and glove,
If you win one you must have two—
Both Home and Love.
And if you've both, well then I'm sure
You ought to sing the whole day long.
It doesn't matter where you are
With these to make divine your song
And so, prayerfully repeat,
When angels talk in Heaven above,
There are no words more simply sweet,
Than Home and Love.

As a slight token of the esteem in which you are held we ask you to kindly accept these various gifts, and hope that as you use them, they will often recall pleasant memories, and be assured that you both carry with you the best wishes of your many friends and associates who are leaving in this vicinity.
Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours — Kathleen McComb, Roma Mumby, Nellie Webb, Florence Frost, George Williams.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

and Mrs. Carlisle entered the lodge room, Brother Carlisle being a former degree captain of the Lodge. An address was read by Sister Elsie Bailey, and was as follows:

Stirling, Dec. 6th, 1933
Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle.—
On this occasion of your marriage, we, the members of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 211, desire to congratulate you on your new venture in life, and extend to you our best wishes. One of Edgar Guest's poems can best convey our thoughts to you this evening.

Cause a moment, happy pair,
This is not the station where Romance ends, and wooing stops,
And the charm of courtship drops.
This is but the outward gate
Where the souls of mortals mate.
Eat the border of the land
You must travel hand in hand.
You who come to marriage bring
All the tenderness and cling Steadfastly to all the ways
That have marked your wooing days.
You are only starting out
On Life's roadway, hedged about Thick with roses and with tans,
Sweet delights and bitter cares.
You are now about to show
Whether love is true or no;
Yonder, down the lane of Life
You will find, as man and wife
Sorrow, disappointments, doubt,
Hope will almost flicker out.
But, if truly you are wed
With love, when you are wed
You will find that you will share,<
To balance every care;

Arm in arm remain, and you
Will not fear the storms that brew.
If, when you are sorest tried
You face your trials, side by side,
Now, your wooing days are done
And your loving years just begun.
Signed on behalf of Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211 — Florence Maynes, N.G., Edith Uman, V.G.

The presentation of a Chestfield table was made by Sister Mable Maglinson. Bro. Carlisle made able response on behalf of himself and Mrs. Carlisle.

The birthday cake, on which were 13 candles, was then lit up by Past Noble Grand Sister Grace Vandervoort. Sister Vandervoort is the thirteenth Noble Grand. She was also presented with a beautiful P. G. Jewel for faithful services rendered during her term of office, in 1933.

Sister Vandervoort thanked the members for their gift and kindly support during the year. Sister Vandervoort baked the cake, and it was delicious.

Lunch was served, after which cards and dancing were enjoyed until the wee sma' hours. Visitors were present from Glenora Lodge, Frankford. About one hundred and fifty were in attendance. Music was supplied for the dancing by Sister Vera Pyear, Harry Vandervoort and Maurice Bell.

Mrs. Ethel Keene's gift was a beautiful silver tray and crystal relish dish.

WHAT WILL BRING THE WORLD TO AN END?

The likelihood of the earth dying of old age will be discussed by Prof. Lucien Rudaux, noted French scientist, next Sunday in the American Weekly with The Detroit Sunday Times. Attractive pictures in colour will illustrate the article.

Why are we deep in the trough of the waves?
Too many masters make too many slaves.
Joy will return and prosperity rule

When giving, not getting, shall smilingly reign,
Good times will return to make light hearts again.

OUR CHRISTMAS STORY

(By A Correspondent)
The writer had been browsing around the shelves of the mental storeroom trying to locate material for a short Christmas story, and then, overcome with fatigue, he fell asleep. Then came the dream. Now in dreams one is sometimes somebody else, nothing less than a millionaire or a king. And what time one has. But on this occasion the dreamer was just himself, so it is quite evident his dream machinery was not functioning up to form. But to go on with the story.....

It was Christmas Eve. We were standing near a platform on which stood a man who seemed ill at ease. We looked again. It was the Editor. He was trying to get down. It seemed that he felt he was in the wrong place — that he was surprised. But after repeated attempts to escape, he reluctantly remained.

What was going to happen? Along came a crowd. They halted and formed around the platform. The Editor looked mystified and a little alarmed. His eyes seemed to be seeking a stealthy way of escape. We tried to catch his eye and pass him a silent signal of our support, if he were attacked. He caught the glance and tried to smile. Just then a section of the crowd advanced, and one of their number stepped forward and commenced to address the Editor, who braced himself for the worst. The speaker turned out to be a correspondent and this is what he said: "We have come to offer our apology for the lateness of our reports. We have sometimes sent these weeks after the events and forgotten many interesting incidents we had been asked to report. The Editor seemed utterly dazed as the speaker continued. "Then we regret that we at times complained about your humble efforts being cut down, when wasting space to tell you about the weather, and we have forgotten that if a dog bites a man it is news. So we bow in sack cloth and in ashes for all these faults and for our bitter feelings towards the blue pencil, assuring you that never again will we complain. From now....."

At this point it was seen the Editor was fainting. We rushed to his aid, brought him around, and stood him up again. "Courage," we whispered. By this time another speaker came forward. "We wish to express our sorrow that we have often complained of having had nothing in the way of press notices in your estimable paper, though we tolled day and night. Never again will we complain, O, Editor."

We thought the Editor would faint again, but he managed to pull himself around, as though trying to decide whether he was awake. Once he tried to speak, but for once speech would not come. Another speaker advanced with a battalion of women. Directly he caught sight of these, the Editor, for some reason, began to tremble. He seemed to sense danger and instinctively got behind a chair and moaned: "Water! Water!" It was past three o'clock, and someone answered the call with a cup of tea, which the Editor eagerly swallowed, with two supporting him as another speaker stepped forward, representing the readers.

"We the readers of your valuable paper have come to express our appreciation of all your efforts. We regard your paper as one of the best productions and we assure you we read every word not once, but many times."

A spasm seemed to sweep over the Editor. With a mighty effort he groaned: "I can't stand any more. Take me away, please!"

As we prepared to take him away, the various speakers advanced, and with laden arms, placed their uens on the platform saying: "We present these humble gifts." Among them we glimpsed a huge parcel of blue pencils from Contrite Correspondents. At this point something roused us and we awoke.

Next morning came a letter:
My Dear Editor:
My last report was absolutely spoiled. All the best was taken out—thus it ran.
Yes, that's the worst of dreams. They are apt to be a little too ideal.

CHRISTMAS DAY

It is not definitely known when Christmas was first celebrated. The institution of the Festival is attributed to Telesphorus, who flourished in the reign of Antoninus Pius (131-161 A.D.). The reason for the final choice of December 25 cannot now be determined. As Christianity spread, the feast of the winter solstice, the time when the day begins to increase, and light to triumph over darkness, was changed into the Feast of Christ, the Light of Life.

PROTECT CHILDREN WHEN CELEBRATING CHRISTMAS

Christmas time being a season of joy, every precaution should be taken to prevent any untoward circumstances which might enter into its celebration.

Too often the careless placing of lighted candles has resulted in painful burns, and even death to those participating in the Yuletide festivities. "Santa Claus" has been the victim in innumerable cases.

Tiny electric lights now are most used in lighting the Christmas tree, and that reduces the fire danger materially. If candles are to be used in the decoration—and they undoubtedly lend an effect not to be obtained by the electric lights — they should be placed on the mantel and in other secure locations where contact with their pretty flames is not likely to be made.

In Christmas sports involving the slightest danger, children should be directed in their play by an older person who is competent to effect a rescue if necessary.

A LETTER OF INTEREST

Fellow Citizens:
I have been having a touch of flu, and for awhile I thought I was going up it. Every bone in my body ached, but mostly my head. Generally when you are sick you are sick in one place, but when you have the flu you have it all over the premises. I was as full of germs as a family toothbrush. Every time I moved it was as good for me as it is for a load of furniture. And yet I didn't want to stay in one position any longer than the ordinary stenographer. To move was terrible, and to sit still was worse.

And yet I didn't have any more ambition than a boy just out of college. I didn't care whether I did any plumbing or not. I had always supposed that the only person who ever felt that way was one of our workmen maybe. I felt like I hadn't a friend in the world, and I didn't have any among the people who came into contact with me. As an animal imitator I certainly was a success, because I barked like a dog around the plant and growled like a bear around the office.

Finally I went to see a doctor. I had seen him sign several times, and so I dropped in to see the man himself. Of course I didn't know he was a horse doctor, and it was a good thing I didn't, because that was what I needed. He told me the thing for me to do was to go home and go to bed. I asked him if he thought I would feel better if I did, and he said no, but that everybody else would. So I went home and went to bed, which was the first time I had gone to bed in the daytime since the last plumbers' convention.

He gave me some golfballs to take, anyway that is the way they looked and about how they swallowed. As I say, I didn't know he was a horse doctor, but he was, and that was all he did know. He figured that anything that would cure a horse ought to have some effect on a man, and he was right. The doctor wasn't to blame, I told him I was a little hoarse, and he treated me accordingly.

To relieve the anxiety of inquiring friends, I wish to say that I have practically recovered. I still whine a little, but otherwise you would hardly know I had been sick. That heave medicine did the trick. It sure did. Now I don't look any worse than I always do, or feel much more so. I am almost fit to associate with again. My brain still seems a little fevered, but the doctor says that will pass away. All I need now is fresh air, bright sunshine and a few orders.

Thankfully yours,
A. SUBSCRIBER

SYNOPSIS: Ruth Warren, who lived in the East, is willed three-fourth interest in the "Dead Lantern" ranch in Arizona by her only brother, who is reported to have met his death while on business in Mexico. Arriving in Arizona with her husband, who has ailing lungs and their small child, they learn that the ranch is located 35 miles from the nearest railroad. Old Charley Thane, rancher and rural mail carrier agrees to take them to the "Dead Lantern" gate, 5 miles from the ranch house. As they trudge wearily through a gulch approaching the ranch house, a voice whispers "Go back. Go back." Ruth's husband caught in a rain shortly after their arrival contracts pneumonia and passes away before medical aid can be brought. Ruth, penniless and with no friends attempts to carry on but is balked at almost every turn by the crafty and plotting Snavely. Despite obstacles of all kind Ruth gives notice on her ranch interest to purchase cattle. She is assisted by Old Charley Thane and his son, Will Thane. A Mexican family has been hired to assist with the work. A peculiar sickness develops with the livestock. Snavely calls it "liver fever" and says he has a powder for the fever to cure the disease. Ruth discovers trickery in Snavely's tactics of poisoning her cattle, but says nothing, waiting for additional evidence. Drought is overcome by sinking a well in the ravine, getting water for the perishing stock. At the round-up Ruth has enough stock to sell to meet her notes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Ruth entered the gulch which ran toward a few yards south of the house, and followed it. At last she stopped beneath an ash tree which had a low branch. With the paring knife she cut the potato in half and made numerous little cuts in the white surface. Into this surface she rubbed a pinch of powder from the liver fever box. She placed the piece of potato on the branch of the tree and, walking a short distance away, seated herself in the shade to wait, her eyes on the potato.

She waited more than an hour and was about to give up when a little gray bird flew down from the top of the ash tree and alighted on the branch. After a moment the bird hopped to the potato, looked it over and took a speculative peck.

Ruth watched so intently that her eyes burned. The little bird had taken several bites when it ceased and moved away from the potato. It stood upon a small twig and jerked its head as though trying to shake something from its mouth or throat. Then the little wings drooped, the bird toppled hung by a single claw for a moment, and dropped to the ground.

Ruth buried the bird and the piece of potato, then walked slowly back to the house. Her face was pale and her knees felt uncertain. In her room again, she unlocked her trunk, and after screwing up her courage, tasted the powder labeled Cyanide.

It was common salt.

The girl shuddered. How could any one deliberately poison cattle? But she knew that to Snavely cattle were only a crop. He would not have killed a horse; but if by causing the cattle crop to fail he could gain possession of the ranch, that was another matter.

Snavely had not foreseen that she would lock both boxes in her trunk and so had no opportunity to re-change the contents. Later, Ann had "poisoned" the barbecue meat with dirty salt, and today the girl had killed a bird with the "fever medicine." Ruth grew weak with fear; if the man would do such things to her, might he not do? That night when the drunken giantess had been goaded to kill her by the voice, Ruth was certain that in some way Snavely controlled that voice.

She now feared him as never before; yet, she must not let him suspect it. If she could only hold out this week, until Old Charley and Will came.

The next afternoon Ruth and David rode through the arroyo north of the barn. When they met the old road, the girl turned toward the gulch, dismounted at the fence and tied the horses.

She went first to the brown boulder and seated herself. Ruth waited half an hour, while David played about, but she heard no voice. Then, systematically, she began to explore. She looked into every depression, behind every boulder, and among the scant piles of driftwood and leaves in the bed of the gulch.

She returned to the rock and seated herself wearily—it was hard walking through the sand. David crawled on his stomach before the rock, tickling the sand on the edge of a doodle bug cone.

"Mama, what are we doing?"

"Just thinking."

Presently David asked, "Do you hear that funny little bird?"

"Oh, David!" For the first time

Ruth turned her whole mind on her son. Just then she heard the twitter of a bird. She had heard it off and on for some time, but only as one hears a sound while thinking hard upon something else. The twitter came again and Ruth started, then rose quickly to her feet. There was something strange about the sound of that bird—it was too close, as though the bird was sitting not ten feet away, perhaps even nearer. But there was not a bird in sight. "David," Ruth was suddenly excited, "Get up on top of the rock and see if you can see the bird—we must find it, son!"

"Isn't it close, Mama?" David held his hand out before him. "I think he is sitting on my finger, but when I look he's gone!"

Slowly, Ruth moved away from the rock, trying to find the infrequent sounds of the bird to go toward it.

She soon discovered that if she went a few feet to right or left she could not hear the bird at all, although David, behind her on the boulder, said "Hear it!" at regular intervals.

The sound seemed to come from the south in a narrow band. As though she were following an invisible beam of light the girl walked slowly toward the cliff. It was weird: the voice of the bird grew only slightly louder—always, it seemed but a few feet before her face. Ten yards from the cliff a bird flew out of a waist-high bush and darted up the gulch. Ruth ran to the bush. It was a very ordinary bush, rather sparse, differing in no way from any other bush.

A foot or so behind it rose the wall of sandstone. To left and right, ran other bushes, growing as close to the wall as they could find earth, none of them tall. Then Ruth saw something which her eyes would have missed six months before—in the bush was a dry stick about two feet tall with a forked top. This stick did not belong to the bush; it had been stuck into the sand like a stake.

She stepped through an opening on the right and came between the bush and the wall. Just behind the bush was a smooth depression in the sandstone about four feet across and perhaps a foot or more in depth. It was as though some one had pressed a giant basin into the wall when the rock was soft. The lower third of this basin was beneath the surface of the sand. It was a perfectly natural hollow such as are to be found in great numbers, scoured out by wind and water, in the sandstone banks of ravines. But Ruth saw something else: a small flat-topped rock like a footstool lay on the ground a little inside the basin, and before this stone were the marks of boot heels. She experimented and found that when seated upon the stone her head came opposite the deepest part of the basin behind her. She called to David to go back to the boulder and climb on top.

When the boy was in position she spoke in a normal tone "Hello, David."

"Hello, Mama!" His small voice reached her across the intervening distance.

Ruth lowered her voice to an excited whisper. "Can you hear Mama now?"

David did not reply.

Then she saw that the forked stick which she had already discovered, was so placed that by sitting straighter she could just see the boy on the boulder through the notch. It was like a gun sight. Again she whispered "Come here, David."

It was uncanny; the boy slid from the rock and plodded toward her through the sand.

As they returned to the house Ruth thought over her discovery. The depression in the rock was a reflector, and by sitting on the stone and sighting through the forked stick, one's mouth was placed in focus. The sound of the voice was then conveyed and directed in a narrow beam to the brown boulder, as light is reflected from a headlight. That was the secret of the old Indian medicine men. And Snavely had learned of it. He had seen Ruth, Kenneth and David that first day—had watched them struggle along the road toward the ranch. Then he had propped into the gulch by way of the fissure and had spoken to them. Afterward, he had gone to the corral, told Ann that he would finish milking and that she should go and see who was coming through the gulch.

She was tremendously thrilled over her discovery. She told herself that now she had Snavely where she wanted him.

Ruth lay awake late that night, planning how she could prove the origin of the voice to Ann. She came to the conclusion that she would do nothing until Sunday. With Will and Old Charley helping, she could get Ann to come for a ride in the machine on some pretext or other, before she would take her to the gulch and show her what the voice was. Then, without returning to the ranch they would all go into town and place the whole thing in Martin's hands.

On Saturday Ruth and David arrived at the mail box later than usual. The girl stayed on her horse while David dismounted and, crawling through the fence, went to the box. He returned with the roll of papers and magazines. "There's a letter here too, Mama," he said, as he held up the roll.

Ruth worked the letter from under the string about the package and looked at it curiously. It was addressed to her old apartment in Philadelphia; the writing was unfamiliar, a child's writing. The original postmark was undecipherable, but as she opened the letter Ruth noticed that it bore a foreign stamp.

As her eyes met the first few words of the crudely written letter, Ruth's expression of mild curiosity was suddenly wiped out. She uttered a cry and her face went white. She sat on her horse like one entranced, lips parted breathlessly, eyes staring at the paper. Both David and Sanchez looked on with in-

"Mama—?" Ruth whirled about. "Uncle Harry—this letter—he's alive!"

Ruth returned to the horse ranch in an ecstasy of happiness. The whole world had changed; for in that world Ruth Warren felt that all her troubles were vanishing. To be sure, Harry was far away, sick, and in difficulties; but he was alive. Harry, her big brother—the one person she had really depended on all her life—was alive! She told herself that she never had been quite satisfied with the story of his death; it sounded plausible, but somehow not like Harry. He wasn't dead—he'd soon be with her on the Dead Lantern ranch.

She felt incredibly young and light-hearted. As she and David neared the barn, chattering and laughing, Ruth fell to thinking of Snavely. She paled him. Poor, half-crazy, eccentric man—there was nothing to fear from him now. When Harry learned of the things he had done, Snavely would have to go.

Just what she would do at present, Ruth had not decided. First she would show Snavely the letter. Nothing he could say or do would frighten her now, and once he understood that Harry Grey was coming back to the Dead Lantern, Snavely was forever beaten.

Again she read the letter which she still held in her hand. Harry had been captured by Mexican bandits, had been with them several months, had at last escaped, but was badly hurt, had been then until the writing of the letter he had been cared for at the inaccessible Gutierrez Rancho six days west of Hermosillo. He said that he was dictating the letter to a traveler, the first person he had seen in many months who had any knowledge of English. Harry was unable to write because of a wound, and was still in bed. But his hurts were mending and before long he expected to be up. He requested Ruth to write his partner, Snavely, of the situation and ask him to go to Hermosillo.

Ruth galloped to the ranch house, for she saw Snavely's horse standing by the little mesquite near the back porch.

She entered the front of the house and went through to the rear.

CHRISTMAS ESSENTIALLY THE DAY OF THE CHILD

December the 25th is the Day of the Child.

It is upon this day of days that countless men and women and little ones barely able to speak their language utter the great rejoicing: For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given!

Even those who hold creeds in which there is no Christmas feel the splendor of that cry, and those who have no formal creed at all, still know there is one of the 365 portions of the year which is essentially the Day of the Child.

It is the day when even the most unsentimental adult, long since concealed and hardened by the years, can hear in his heart the footsteps of the little ones. Today they are smiling about so eagerly all over the world, patterning to see what good gifts may have been received, ardent with a hope that only young hearts can feel.

On this day the austere scientist who has almost quit believing in the very laws of astronomy which recently seemed so sure and stable, but which now seem dissolving in a mist of relativity—this careful professional skeptic becomes as a child himself, and considers it hard indeed if he cannot believe in Santa Claus, bearded fairy godfather of the children.

On this day even those who have been the most careless feel like saying over reverently that beautiful prayer for wisdom in the rearing of the children.

"Almighty God, heavenly father, who hast blessed us with the joy and care of children; Give us light and strength so to train them, that they may love whatsoever things are true and pure and lovely and of good report!"

For on this Day of the Child we all remember that the most precious gift we can bestow upon our children is a capacity for feeling just such tender and generous and helpful emotions as today stir in the breasts of all good men and women.

BETHEL Y. P. S.

(Too Late for Last Week)

The Bethel Young People's Society held their weekly meeting in the church on Thursday evening. The meeting opened with hymn "O Canada. Our Fathers' Land of Old," dedicated to Sir Arthur Currie. Mr. John led in prayer and some old business was discussed. Wesley Farrell, leader of the Citizenship department, had charge of the program. Hymn No. 111 was sung and Bill Sutherland read the scripture lesson. Helen Farrell and Irene Tucker, accompanied by guitars, rendered a duet, "The Heart that's Broken for You." Miss Ruth Eggleston gave a splendid talk on Citizenship, which was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by everyone. Wesley Farrell read the origination of the old favourite song "When You and I were Young, Maggie," while Laurene Scott played it very softly. Mildred Elliott and Mr. Sine then sang the song which was enjoyed by the listeners. A quartette of Thelma and Vera Ketcheson, Laura Broadworth and Helen Farrell, accompanied by Laurene Scott, sang "Don't Forget." They were encored and sang "I Don't Know Why I'm Happy." Mrs. Clayton recited a very humorous reading, "Didn't You Chilly," and as an encore "When Banks go Broke in China". Everyone sat up and took notice when Mr. Tucker read his newspaper. He made many of the young people blush, but nevertheless the old were much wiser after his few remarks. In a few well-chosen words, Mr. John expressed his appreciation of such a fine programme. He complimented the convenors and especially Wesley Farrell, who had charge of the program for the night. Hymn No. 109 was sung and the meeting was closed with the League Benediction.

Notes from the [County Council

COUNTY OLD AGE PENSION

In the report of the Old Age Pension Board, submitted to Hastings County Council at its December Session last week, it was revealed that 1977 applications for pensions in the county had been granted during the past year. Of that number, 31 are inmates of the House of Refuge, and seven are inmates of other institutions, between the Ontario Hospital at Cobourg and the House of Providence, Kingston.

There were 64 deaths of pensioners since January 1, and eleven pensioners have been cancelled. Six pensioners from other counties have moved into Hastings County during the past year, and have been chargeable to the local board.

The average pension granted was $15.00 to each successful applicant.

Total amount remitted to the provincial authorities by the Board during 1933 was $13,269.99 which was ten per cent. of the total cost and is the county's share.

The treasurer of the County House of Refuge has received, since January 1st, the sum of $5,768.42 for the maintenance of pensioners in that institution.

The report was signed by the members which constitute the board — chairman, Jas. Bronson; secretary, Jas. Haggerty; Geo. E. Jordan and W. C. West.

COUNTY GRANTS

A report of the Committee of Agriculture presented by chairman Geo. E. Thompson, Reeve of Rawdon, recommended the following grants at the May meeting of the Committee, was given at Wednesday (last week) session of Hastings County Council: $100.00 to the Cheesemakers' Association in the County of Hastings, with $75.00 to be expended on prizes to winners in the Butterfat Per Acre Contest, and $25.00 to Cheesemakers' Union. Second, that a grant up to $40.00 be paid each school fair held in Hastings County, provided the municipality gave an equal amount.

Third, that $50.00 be granted for the purpose of assisting boys' and girls' clubs and contests to be conducted in the county under the direction of the agricultural representative.

A detailed report of the work for the year was given by the agricultural representative, Mr. Joe Wilson. A report of the corn borer Inspector, Mr. Marvin, was also received and recommended to be given in detail at an open meeting of the county council.

The following grants were also passed at the December meeting: $15.00 to each district Women's Institute in Hastings County with the grant given to North Hastings, West Hastings and East Hastings. Mr. Jos. Wilson was also granted $40.00 to arrange a one-month's course in agriculture for the boys, and home economics for the girls, to be held in the month of January in Tyndinaga township. The report was signed by chairman George E. Thompson, Earl S. Denyes, P. S. Corbin, S. G. Sherman, J. M. Anderson and George Bush.

Following the reading of reports, the Wednesday morning session was adjourned until Thursday morning.

An urgent request was made by Warden Whytock before adjournment for all members to attend the county public speaking contest held in the Collegiate Institute during the afternoon.

COUNTY COUNCIL TAKES ACTION ON INDIGENT QUESTION

Two important resolutions, one aimed at the cutting down of expenses in indigent accounts in the county, and the other to authorize a request to the provincial government for extra road work in the front section, part of which cost will be borne by the county, were passed at the Friday afternoon session of the County Council.

It was moved by A. L. Burke, Reeve of Sidney and seconded by Wesley Grey, Reeve of Thurlow, that, whereas under present conditions it is almost impossible to collect taxes in the townships, thereby causing heavy overdrafts in the county.

And whereas, under the Hospital's Act the rate of $1.75 per day, charged indigent patients was applied in prosperous times, and whereas the number of indigent patients being admitted to hospitals is rapidly growing larger, be it resolved that this county council respectfully request the Hon. Minister of Health to have the Hospital's Act amended, whereby the various municipalities shall not pay more than $1.00 per day, and that the province shall assume fifty per cent. of the total hospitalization days, and that the head of the municipality, together with the local officer of health shall be consulted before indigent patients are admitted to the hospitals. The motion also provides that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Hon. Prime Minister of Ontario, the Hon. Minister of Health and the local representatives.

The motion was carried with little discussion.

Asked to Provide Work

The second resolution moved by A. L. Burke, Reeve of Sidney, and seconded by Wesley Grey, Reeve of Thurlow, reads that, in view of the number of unemployed persons in the municipalities of Tyndinaga, Thurlow, Sidney, Hungerford, the town of Deseronto and the villages of Tweed and Frankton, and as the government relief scheme does not apply to the municipalities under the Highway Improvement Act, except through the county, that it is the opinion of the county council that some work must be provided to relieve the serious unemployment situation. Be it hereby resolved that the Ontario Department of Highways be requested to arrange some suitable work, and that this council agrees to their share of the work as a relief measure.

It was explained that the work which might be undertaken would be left to the discretion of the department, but would affect the district between Trenton and Deseronto. It might be in the nature of improvthe ditches along the main highway, repairing and grading the sides, and whatever the departmental engineers decide upon.

No figure of the amount of work done could be given by Mr. Burke. "That depends on whatever the government thinks wise," he stated in answer to a question.

The original motion had neglected to add the township of Rawdon to the list of municipalities to be affected.

"I'd like to see Rawdon included in that motion," stated Reeve Gunter, of Bancroft, before the motion was put.

"I'm perfectly willing to include it," replied Mr. Burke.

"Stirling should be included in this also," stated William West, Reeve of Stirling.

"The whole thing is so indefinite we are a little in the dark on it really," stated the mover.

"This work won't be limited to just those people who live along where it is being done will it?" questioned Reeve Larkin of Tyndinaga.

Mr. Metcalfe, Reeve of Deseronto, explained:

Condition is Serious

"We're not trying to slip something over on the townships in this matter. But the trouble is getting serious down here. We've got a lot of men out of work and we haven't a thing for them to do. We are not situated like you men of the north are. I know the Reeves of the northern townships will bear a little expense on this. We can't help out on all the road expense, and not have a place to put our own men to work."

William Morton, Reeve of Hungerford: "What does this resolution call for?"

"It merely asks the government to provide some kind of work in the front section. We're here to help the men from the north on this matter, and we hope they'll help us," stated Mr. Burke.

J. L. Churchier, Reeve of Dungan: "We've listened to the addresses of the southern gentlemen on this matter, and I feel that the men of the north are solidly behind any effort they care to make. We're here to help all we can; to keep in unity as much as we can on these matters. You have helped us in the past and now it's our turn to help."

"That takes in a little of the country south of Madoc, too, doesn't it?" asked Frank Reynolds, Reeve of Madoc.

"Up as far as Belleville."

"That will come later," stated a member.

RAWDON LIBERALS RE-ORGANIZE

At the annual meeting of the Rawdon Liberal Association in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, on Friday, last week, Wm. Newman, M.P.E., Liberal-Progressive member for the constituency of Victoria, speaking in the interests of J. A. Faulkner, M.D., the Liberal candidate for this constituency spoke of world conditions and denounced the extravagances of the present Conservative Ontario Government. He said we are in a real depression. The various countries of the world have borrowed to pay the cost of the great war two hundred and eight thousand million dollars. Money borrowed must be paid back. We are forcing Germany to pay, he said, and in order to do so she must sell more than she buys. Germany and other nations have placed a duty on our wheat.

Mr. Newman paid a tribute to Sir James Whitney, but stated the members now in power were very unlike Sir James, who rode to Parliament buildings on a bicycle. He spoke of the increase in the debt of this province being increased last year by over fifty-three million dollars, said that for the past twenty-one years the Conservative government has been in power and he declared it is now time for a change.

He expressed the opinion that all taxes collected on gasoline should be spent on roads, that salaries of high officials should be reduced, that expenses for new furniture for lounges and hanging pictures were ridiculous, and that money lenders should receive 2 1/2 per cent. instead of the average 5 per cent. on their loans.

Dr. Faulkner, the candidate, who proceeded Mr. Newman, declared that if elected, he did not stand for Government patronage and would come to the homes of his people and find out how things are working out. He referred to the large surplus the Liberal Government had in 1905 and the large debt of five hundred and seventy-two millions in 1932.

Mr. W. H. Heath acted as chairman very efficiently and recited a poem "Me First". Some excellent duets were given by Mrs. C. Sine and Miss Tucker, Mrs. Harold Elliott accompanying.

Mr. Fraser Aylesworth, of Madoc, and Mr. Thos. Laycock, of Marmora, prominent Liberals, also addressed the meeting briefly.

The organization of the Township was then taken charge of by Mr. H. Holton, organizer. The election of officers resulted as follows: W. H. Heath, president; Vice-Presidents, Ross Hord and Mrs. Fred Heath; Secretary-Treasurer, Ernest Sarles. The new executive addressed the meeting, each pledging to do their best for the cause. Mrs. Heath urged the women to use their franchise. It is a woman's duty, she said, to improve conditions in the home, provide better opportunities for children, and endeavour to get lasting peace for their country. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Newman. The meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

Help Wanted

Little Betty, aged nine, knelt down by her bed and prepared to say her prayers.

"Please, God, make Rome the capital of Turkey," she pleadingly asked.

Her mother, who was standing over her, gasped.

"Darling," she exclaimed, "what-ever do you mean by that?"

Betty rose to her feet and said, "Well, mummy," she said, "that is what I put in my examination paper today."

Missionary Addresses Service

On Sunday evening the folks at Mount Pleasant were given an extra treat when Mr. Ralph Boyer, a missionary home on furlough from Chengtu in the Western China Mission, gave a splendid address based on the Bible passage "Go Forward." He brought greetings from the people of West China Mission to the folks in the homeland, and also thanked the people for the excellent support given during the past four years of financial stress. The mission at West China is 2000 miles inland and he vividly described his trip to that city. Mr. Boyer is engaged in a Christian publishing house established in 1896, four years after the mission was begun. This House is 1500 miles from any other building of the same nature and forty men are kept busy daily. When the Evangelists distribute these tracts, they also give out tracts dealing with crops, spraying, and other allied subjects. Folks are also treated to free medicines, as Christianity is an all-round problem. The speaker pictured the life of an Evangelist as he lives in a Chinese inn, talks to the people of China, combats various hostile students who favour Communism and overcomes many difficulties. In one section the aristocracy forced military forces to enforce law and order. Many Chinese Christians debate in tea shops the merits of Christianity. The speaker gave personal incidents of how students have become Christians. He also talked with our missionaries, with the foreign nurses in the hospitals, and in many other ways. He also told of the dread disease of cholera and how in 1932 it swept Chengtu and two thirds of the people who develop this disease die inside of a day. During the weeks of fighting this plague every available hospital space was filled. Again, when the fighting took place in the city, many patients severely wounded were treated, and there was a daily average of thirty-five operations. Since 1925 only one New Evangelist missionary has been sent to the West China Mission. When these missionaries there are discouraged and do not know which way to turn they just "Go Forward." The Mission, Olive McConnell and Edna Thrasher missed an appropriate dual "Jesus is Near."

We extend congratulations to Mr.

and Mrs. John Heagle, of Wellmans. A new daughter arrived at their home on Sunday, Dec. 10th.

Box Social

On Thursday evening the Athletic Club staged their box social. Mr. Lindsay McKeown filled the chair and with Mrs. John Holmes at piano and the audience joined in community singing, which ended with a round, "Row, Row, Row Your Boat." The chairman thanked the folks for their help with this event, and said the proceeds would be used for hockey and baseball supplies. The male trio, Messrs H. Higgs, J. Coggins and D. Bell, with Miss E. Thrasher as accompanist, sang "Barney Goodby." A piano duet "March of the Trojans" by Misses E. Thrasher and F. MacKeown. Reading, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, "Mistah Johnsing's Defence." A trio with guitar accompaniment by the latter, "Come to sleep in your barn tonight, Mister?" by Messrs J. Campbell, Mount Pleasant, Lorne Wilson and Thomas Searles, of West Huntingdon, and as an encore Lorne sang "Four Thousand Years Ago." The songs and dances were given by H. Higgs and H. Smith, with Black Sharp as musician and Orno Sharp as referee gave an exhibition of farce boxing. Duet "The Cowboy's Dream" Misses Olive McConnell and Mildred Shaw, with guitar accompaniment by Miss E. Thrasher. Solo with guitar accompaniment, Mr. Alfred Powell, "Mississippi Valley Blues." Reading "The Photograph Album" Several musical selections by Mrs. Holmes, piano; Mr. Searles, banjo, and Mr. Campbell, harmonica. Solo, Miss Marguerite White, with Miss Frances McKeown as accompanist "Just awaying for you." Trio, Messrs Wilson, Campbell and Searles, "Lamp-lighting Time in the Valley." Solo, Mr. Alfred Powell, "The Red River Valley" and as an encore "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine."

Mr. Orno Sharp then auctioned off the boxes, assisted by Messrs Higgs and Kellar, and the proceeds amounted to over seven dollars. A ten-cent lunch was served to those who did not purchase boxes.

Y. P. S.

Rev. Mr. Joblin opened Y.P.S. at Mount Pleasant on Friday evening with "Out of My Bondage" and prayer. The pastor said it was with reluctance that the executive accepted the resignation of Mr. Willie Jeffs who had given four years of service which the members of the Y.P.S. surely appreciated. Miss Eileen MacMullen read the minutes of the executive and their recommendation that Mr. Clifford Holmes be elected last vice-pres., was unanimously carried. The new President, Mr. John Coggins, was then introduced and after giving a few preliminary remarks, envelopes were passed out for contributions for the West and these are to be handed to Miss Edna Thrasher as soon as possible.

The Missionary Convenor, Miss Thrasher then presided with "Listen to the Voice of Jesus". Miss Marguerite White offered prayer. Miss Eileen MacMullen read Acts 22: 6-15. Miss Helen Spencer sang "Father Lead Me." Miss Myra McKeown read a poem, "Opportunities." Missionary news was given by Mrs. Merle Spencer, Mrs. Cyrus Summers and Mrs. Roy Thrasher. The pastor spoke on "Retrenchment". Miss Olive McConnell sang "Some of these days". Miss Winnie Phillips read a poem "Sisters". All sang "My Faith Looks up to Thee" and an "Old Testament" Contest proved interesting.

Montgomery - Bertrand

A quiet but pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized at the home of the groom's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen on Wednesday, December 6th, 1933, at 11 a.m., when Miss Gertrude Irene Bertrand, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Forestall, of Marmora, and the late Frank Bertrand, of Deloro, became the bride of William James Montgomery, son of Mr. Edward Montgomery, of Mount Pleasant, with Rev. F. G. Joblin officiating. The bride looked charming in a dress of turquoise blue silk crepe with wide satin cowl neckline, trimmed with beads, matching hat of felt and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and fern. The witnesses were Miss Dorothy Donohue, of River Valley, friend of the bride, and Mr. Percy MacMullen, brother-in-law of the groom. During the signing of the Register and at the dinner hour, appropriate music was rendered by Master Ormel MacMullen. The house was decorated for the occasion in pink and white and silver streamers, with an arch of ferns and greenery interspersed with cyanthems, poppies and white balls. The bride's table was also done in the same colour scheme with the wedding cake and bride's cake as centrepieces, and the guests numbered sixteen. Misses Eileen MacMullen and Marguerite White were the dinner waitresses. At the close of the dinner Rev. Joblin presided over the ceremony of the cutting of the cakes and in a very pleasing manner welcomed the bride to Mount Pleasant and wished her and the groom many years of happiness. The bride then inserted the knife in each of the cakes and the hostess cut them and served a slice of each to the guests. During the afternoon pictures were taken of the wedding party and the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes in a decorated car for a honeymoon trip to Dundonald, where they will be guests at the home of the groom's brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Montgomery. The young couple will reside at Mount Pleasant on their return.

Mr. Harry Erving, of Workworth, has been engaged as teacher for Pethericks school, following the resignation of Miss Dorothy Barnum. Duties to commence after the Christmas holidays.

What about a hockey team again this year? We hope a team can be organized as last year and a Seymour League formed.

Mr. and Mrs. Runnals entertained a number of friends at their home last Tuesday evening. The greater part of the evening was spent in cards and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baraum, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Baraum, Rev. and Mrs. MacTavish were in Peterboro on Tuesday.

We congratulate Mr. Hector Arnold in winning 2nd place this year in the herd competition.

trip that she and Mr. Lawlor had taken up the Pacific coast. The description dealt wholly with the mission work conducted by the United Church in this territory. This work was being done by means of mission boats plying up and down the coast and conducting services wherever an opportunity is presented to the great majority of the people along the British Columbia coast. This is the only connection with the Christian Church they have. The work these missionaries are doing was brought very real to the young people because Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor met and conversed with them in their actual work.

Mr. Charles Allen captivated the audience with a piano number "The Heavens are Telling", from "The Creation", an oratorio by Joseph Haydn. Before playing the maintenance Charlie gave a brief summary of the composer's life, which added to the interest. At the conclusion of this very excellent program Greta Nicholson put on a "Berry" contest, three solos, namely Red, White and Blue, shared equal honours. In conclusion the Mizpah Benediction was pronounced.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

Guild on Monday evening was under the leadership of Mrs. Rogers. Mr. Boulter Johnston acted as chairman. The Scripture Lesson was read by Mrs. A. S. Murdoff, from the 12th chapter of Hebrews. Rev. Koffend led in prayer. Mrs. Disbrow's solo the Rite, led in the aeroplanes race. The first number on the program was a recitation "My Colours" by Don McIntosh. Don then played a piano duet with Mr. C. Allan "The Close of School". The topic was taken by W. Dermody "What does 'Salvation' mean?" In the average dictionary we find that Salvation is the process of being saved from something, any means of deliverance from ruin or sin, but we need not turn to the Scriptural interpretation of the term, the secular. It has been said that Salvation can be thought of in three terms, past, present and future. Salvation involves three things — somewhere to go, something to believe and something to get. For Jesus said, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life" Jesus Christ is the Mediator between God and Man. Christ is the only means of salvation. Following the topic, Miss Moffat gave a reading "With the Poets" and the concluding number was a reading "Talk" by Miss Mae Johnston.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. W. Anderson. Meeting opened with "Saviour Thy Dying Love Thou Gavest Me". Mrs. A. Farley led in prayer. Mrs. Nolan read the scripture lesson from the 2nd chapter of Matthew, 1st five verses. A good number answered the roll call. Minutes of the last annual meeting were read. Each officer gave a splendid report of the year's work. Letters of thanks were read from sick members; also a very interesting letter from Miss Freida Matthews, of Red Deer Alberta, telling how pleased the people are with the clothing that was sent from the W.M.S. Mrs. R. McKeljohn and Mrs. Murdoff sang a duet accompanied by Rev. J. Koffend at the piano. Mrs. Nolan, convener of the Nominating Committee, took the chair and read the list of officers for 1934, as follows:

President—Mrs. W. L. Anderson.
1st vice-Pres.—Mrs. L. Rodgers.
2nd vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. Montgomery.
3rd vice-Pres.—Mrs. L. Dufoe.
Secretary — Mrs. C. Baker.
Treasurer—Miss Evelyn Hewry.
Home Helpers—Mrs. J. Reid.
Welfare and Welfare — Mrs. A. Hammond.
Supply Sec. — Mrs. Spry, Mrs. Matthews.
Planist — Mrs. Nolan, Mrs. Baker.
Press — Gena Spry.

Rev. J. Koffend spoke to the new officers on "Christ didn't always please Himself" and we do not always please ourselves when we take offices, but try to work for the good of the Society. Mr. Koffend then led in prayer for officers elected and all members of the Society. As with Gladness men of Old and the Lord's Prayer. Lunch was served at the close and a social half-hour spent.

A. Y. F. A.

On Monday evening a regular meeting of the A.Y.F.A. was held in the vestry, with an attendance of forty-seven. Each member brought a toy or some small gift to fill a Christmas stocking for the children in the congregation. The meeting opened with a hymn for Advent, followed by prayer led by the 1st vice-President, Arthur Bateman. Business included arrangements for the A.Y.F.A. Christmas concert to be held in the Orange Hall on December 18th were made and names were exchanged for Christmas gifts. Mr. E. Dainard was then called on as special speaker for the evening, and he chose as the subject of his talk, "Crucifixion of the West Indian". He explained the five different stamps of ships: steam, oil, mail packets and pleasure yachts. "The Canadian Forester", a mail packet, was the type he dealt with. The diagram he cleared up the diagram of the ship, the lower part or hull, to balance the ship the lower hold containing hard freight, while the upper hold containing perishable cargo. Both these are priced to hold the cargo, he said. There are three decks, the boat deck, promenade or upper and hurricane. He then told something about the officers and crew. The captain, the head of the ship, has the final word of authority, and everyone must obey him. The navigation officer controls the complete sailing of the ship, and next come the stewards and stewardesses, about forty in number, chief engineers, oilers and regular seamen. The latter are divided into two classes, the able-bodied seamen who must have made six voyages across the ocean and ordinary seamen. There

SEEN THROUGH THE OFFICE WINDOW

(By The Office OWL)

"Billy" Anderson reminded us the other day that the steps to marriage were somewhat similar to the performance one would go through in calling on the governor-general in that you first ring a bell, give your name to maid and then you are taken in.

The sight of several of the local dashing young heroes, who are striving to attract attention to the fact that they are "tough guys", by wearing a hat or caps on these cold days merely brings to us that old saying, parts of which we will conveniently forget, but it sounded something like—no—(??)—no feeling.

A local married man says that from experience he has learned that few things speak louder than tears.

Tom Donnan says that nowadays if a girl is covered with fashion that's about all she is covered with.

A Rawdon farmer informed us on Tuesday that the hurricane-blast on Monday carried nearly everything off his farm but the mortgage.

The Council has ordered that all dogs found on the streets, and not wearing a tag, will be destroyed—which is a move in the right direction. Now, if they'll take it upon themselves to build some sort of a shelter for the multitude of useless cats that spend their evenings in the backyards in certain sections of the town and annoying neighbours with their early morning "necking" parties, they'll have accomplished something. What nobody in particular seems to be able to understand is why certain homes in Stirling are the possessors of two or three cats. They're no good to anybody, and in some parts of the town, every time a householder opens the door to go out, he has to start acting like a hyena in order to keep a flock of neighbourhood cats from coming in. We all feel that any "feline" nuisance which we can afford should not be handed out to tramp cats.

And while we're on the animal question, during the "soft spell" of last week, when lawns were in a very spungy "feline" condition anyway, we are informed that two young pigs, also the property of a neighbour, spent considerable time wading around in a lawn, where owner has taken particular pride in keeping in fine shape. In many towns there is a law which prevents pigs taking kept within the corporation limits, but we haven't been able to learn whether local residents are protected by this form of legislation or not.

Anyway, those who persist in keeping a menagerie of that sort should either rent a farm or else keep the things on their own premises.

There is one thing for which The Office Owl is grateful. Readers have taken an interest in the column to such an extent that matters such as mentioned in the foregoing two or three paragraphs, pertaining to local happenings are continually being brought to our attention. As long as this information is entirely free of personal grievance or "grudge", we will pass comments on it through this column.

At the same time, some of the things brought to our attention are more in the form of an "ax to grind", and are none of our business, or that of anyone else except the parties concerned. That is NOT the kind of suggestions desired by the writer of this column.

The old "sport" of writing obscene writings on local windows with soap is again in vogue. It may be the work of youngsters, but we have our doubts. Those who are indulging in the "fun" would be better employed if they would apply the soap to the back of their necks!

The trumpet in its present form was known as early as the beginning of the sixteenth century, says an exchange. But we'll wager that the musicians of that day never dreamed of holding everything from a coconut shell to a black derby in front of it to produce sounds varying from a catbird to the dying moans of a horse with a skin-full of wet alfalfa.

Reports have come to us that this community has within its limits a boxer and wrestler combined, of no mean merit. Sam Fursey's farm was the scene recently of an engagement in which four West Huntingdon men are supposed to have been disposed of, one at a time, by one Art. James, who, after conquering the four with his fists, engaged one of them in a two-fall wrestling bout. Mr. James claims to be in training for further bouts. If the report is correct, Mr. James was a school-boy champion of South Wales, and is on the way up the ladder of pugilistic success.

Only last week, despite the wintry blasts that came around the corner of Stanley's Mill on Front street, the flingers of the caulked shoe were lustily whooping as they endeavoured to circle the "pin." It takes courage in one's convictions to make a player brave the elements in an effort to keep in practice in the art of throwing the footwear of the horse.

A suggestion, which to many will appear worthless, has been sent in for us to boost. The idea is that some local organization form and sponsor a Debating Society. This undoubtedly would prove interesting, for there are many topics of local interest which could be used to make the gatherings both instructive and entertaining. Now, all that remains is to get some organization to sponsor the idea and put it across.

ST. PAUL'S W. A.

The December meeting of the St. Paul's Woman's Association was held on Tuesday, last week. Mrs. Carlisle Wright president, opened the meeting in the usual form. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. E. G. Bailey, the treasurer, gave a full financial statement of the year's work. The report of the Flower Committee was given by the Secretary in the absence of the Convener of this committee. Letters, which have been headed in were read from members who had received flowers from the Society, namely Miss Gladys Joblin, Mrs. Harold Martin and Mrs. Henry Bell. A Nominating Committee was appointed, comprised of the following ladies: Mrs. Gordner, Mrs. Hocky, Mrs. Jackman, to secure the new slate of officers for 1934. This business meeting was closed with the repeating of the Mizpah Benediction.

ST. PAUL'S Y. P. S.

The Missionary Department conducted the meeting of St. Paul's Young People's Society on Monday evening and presented a splendid programme bespeaking the approaching Christmas tide. Following a brief devotional period conducted by the President, Mrs. Henry Hull, a brief Christmas Carol singing was enjoyed by all. In keeping with the carols, Miss Ruby Wannamaker chose St. Matthew, second chapter, verses 1-11, relating the story of the birth of the Christ Child. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Mrs. Geneva Wright, 2nd vice-President, took charge of the program and called on Miss Dorothy Thompson, who gave a reading entitled "The Cross behind the Star". Reginald Matheson favoured the audience with a very pleasing violin solo, entitled "Minuet in G". By Mendelssohn, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. W. Rowland. The address of the evening was given by Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, and was of outstanding interest. The speaker gave the audience a vivid description of a

Boxing Tourney Is Big Success

A new line of sport has been introduced in this section. Last Thursday night a boxing tournament, sponsored by the local Boy Scout Troop, was held in the Stirling Theatre. Over three hundred and sixty attended, with the ladies being represented. The event proved popular and credit for the staging of same is due to Scoutmaster Tom Ward. Undoubtedly more tournaments will be held.

It was a night of "punching" and there were draws, technical knockouts and real honest-to-goodness knockouts. Herbert Higgs, of Anson, made his debut as a boxer, and was most impressive. He knocked out his opponent, G. Munro, of the Trenton airport, formerly of Vancouver, in the second round. A. James, of West Huntingdon, was not so fortunate, and was made take the count by Paddy O'Connell, also of the airport, but formerly of Toronto. O'Connell was more of a slugger than a boxer, but being an old timer, he outwitted the younger James. It was discovered that James suffered a fractured rib in the melee.

The preliminaries were interesting and enjoyed by the audience. The contestants were local Scouts. The first bout between Max Lummus and M. Reid showed that these young lads were real exponents of the fist. The result was a draw. Fred Joblin and Reg. Clarke put up a real boxing exhibition, being the first time before the public. The latter displayed more boxing technique, but both gained the same number of points and were given a draw. The clown act, staged by Clifford Holmes and John Munro proved a "Mutt and Jeff" combination and created considerable fun. Both worked so hard that the result was two technical knockouts.

In the main bouts real boxing ability was exhibited, the results being as follows:

J. O'Neill, of Belleville S.E.A.C. lost to O. Maracle of Point Anne, at 126 lbs. The most popular win of the evening was that of H. Higgs, of Anson, who registered a clean knockout over G. Munro, of Vancouver, the weights were 160 lbs. L. Potts, of Trenton, won the decision over the judges over R. Collins, Belleville, S.E.A.C. Another new man was B. Bristol, of Madoc, and he scored a technical K.O. over E. Fecteau, of Toronto. C. Edwards, Madoc, started in strong and looked like a winner in his battle with C. Potts of Trenton, but Potts came back to land a knock-out in the third. Both the Madoc boxers have been trained by "Cane" Wallbridge, of that Village, a former member of the University of Toronto boxing team. The local fans were pulling for the Madoc fighters.

A Battle Royal, with Scouts Jack Potter, J. Munro, Fred Joblin, Don Ward, Reg. Clark and Ross Shore, was exciting. The boys were blindfolded and put in the ring with gloves on. There was considerable boxing, and if a contestant fell he was automatically out. Little John Munro was the last to stand.

In the semi-final P. O'Connell, of Toronto, won a technical knock-out in the third round with A. James, of W. Huntingdon, at 150 lbs.

The feature event was a rousing five-round bout in which "Battling" Angus Duffy, of Trenton, appeared after an absence in the ring for some months. Duffy was matched with W. Crawford, of Ashawa boy, and the pair staged a great exhibition, when all the judges agreed was a draw. Duffy won the first two rounds, the third session was a draw and Crawford captured the last two rounds.

The ring for the event was loaned from the Belleville arena.

The local Scouts have been instructed by Jas. Mitchell, who was a prominent boxer in Scotland, prior to coming to Canada.

Much credit for the success of the tourney goes to Flying Officer L. Wray, R.C.A.F., Trenton, who drew up the card, and who also acted as Judge.

Many favourable comments were heard after the tourney with the majority expressing the hope that a similar event would be held in the future.

The following were the officials: Official announcer — Tom Ward, Stirling.

Referee — W. Adams, Trenton Airport, former Middleweight Champion of Ontario.

Judges — Flying Officer L. Wray, R.C.A.F., Trenton; Lt. Col. V. Yates, M.C., V.D., Dorset; A. E. Dobbie, Stirling.

Timekeeper — Jas. Mitchell, Stirling.

Sunday School entertainment has been in order this past week, with Santa Claus being busy presenting the kiddies with treats and gifts.

DIED IN MONTREAL

Mrs. Albert Hammond received the sad news that her sister, Mrs. Louis Deroches, had passed away at Gravel Hospital, Montreal, on Sunday evening after a lengthy illness. She was the wife of a deceased Mr. S. Hammond and had two sons. The funeral took place on Tuesday.

SCOUTS WILL MAKE THE KIDDIES HAPPY

Several local kiddies are going to be made happy this Christmas through the kindness of the local Boy Scout troop. As well as making a little money at the boxing tournament held last week, the local followers of "Baden Powell" were informed on Monday that they came fifth in the Buckingham contest in Group C (towns up to 2500 population) staged by Tuckett's Ltd., of Hamilton. The Scouts worked together with the local Legion and Marmora Scouts in saving empty cigarette and tobacco wrappers. One hundred gifts, up to $2.00 each, have been received. The Legion gets ten, the local Scouts forty and the Marmora Scouts fifty. The toys, etc. will be on display in W. J. Whitty's insurance office window. Tom Ward and his Scouts are to be highly commended for this fine act. The gifts will be presented to needy children on behalf of Santa Claus.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

A very splendid meeting was held on Monday evening under the leadership of Mrs. Jos. Whitehead, with the highest attendance for a regular meeting. The meeting opened with the reading of the Lord's Prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Helen Ward from the 2nd chapter of Luke and the 2nd chapter of Ephesians. A musical trio was given by Rev. J. A. Koffend, vocal, Mr. M. Bell, banjo, and Mr. C. Allan, piano. This was followed by a recitation "A Joke on the King" by Allan. Mr. M. Bell played a banjo selection, accompanied by Mr. C. Allan. The topic "Suppose the World were without Christ" was taken by Miss Mac Johnston, who compared the countries where they had not heard of Christ, the countries where they had heard of Christ and rejected Him, with the countries where Christ is known, and we are compelled to say "He is the Eternal Challenge. He is the paramount need of Mankind. Shall we accept the challenge?" Mr. C. Allan played a piano selection "In a Monastery Garden." A dialogue, Mrs. Brown's Christmas, presented, concluded the program. Harold Barker, who took the part of Mr. Brown, decided to make Mrs. Brown (Lena Ward) believe he was going to give her 100 yards of cotton in red, green, yellow and purple, at four cents a yard, bought at a bargain, for her Christmas present, as Mrs. Brown was always giving him a Christmas present, useful, but bought cheap. A bargain sale, and Mrs. Brown certainly didn't appreciate the 100 yards of brightly coloured cotton at 4c a yard, but was soon pacified when upon opening her parcel she found it contained a nice fur coat.

A. Y. P. A.

On Monday evening the Orange Hall was filled to capacity when the members of St. John's A.Y.P.A., congregation and Sunday School assembled to spend an evening of entertainment. The hall was gaily decorated suitable for the occasion, and a festive Christmas tree laden with gifts occupied one corner of the hall. Rev. A. S. McConnell opened the proceedings and in his remarks thanked the members of the Orange Lodge for their kindness in loaning the hall; also the parents for co-operating; splendidly in bringing their children, on whose efforts the success of the concert depended. Mr. G. C. Craven, president of the A.Y.P.A., acted as chairman for the remainder of the evening. The first item on the program was a comedy entitled "Love and Corned Beef" and those taking part were Mae Clements, Isabel Melville, Melville Tanner, Arthur Gould and James Cranston. This was very amusing and won loud applause. Following this were recitations by Jim Wright, Dick Chard, Roy Bateson, Betty McDonnell, Jack Chard, Clifton Heath, Mary Louise Landman and others, copiously interspersed with music. Kathleen Wright and Margaret Bateman rendered a piano duet in a pleasing manner and a trio including Betty Conley, Dody Craven and Molly Belshaw, was enjoyed by all. Miss A. Calow playing the accompaniment. Master Glen Morrow was a favourite with his mouth-organ and guitar. Another interesting feature of the program was a dialogue by Betty and Helen McDonnell, impersonated elders in a very convincing manner. The concluding number was a play staged by Margaret McDonnell, Dick and Jack Chard, Edward McDonnell and Glen Morrow, entitled "The Cure." This was well acted and was very humorous. A fine juncture Santa Claus arrived and was joyously greeted by the children. After a few words to the children, he distributed the gifts, candy and nuts among the children and grew up. Rev. McConnell in closing urged those present to attend the coronal service on Sunday evening at seven o'clock, when either the Birth of Christ will be shown. At an early hour the singing of the National Anthem brought the concert to a successful conclusion.

The schools will close tomorrow, (Friday) for the Christmas holidays, and will reopen on January 3rd.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

Plans Completed for the Big Event Saturday Afternoon—Over 500 Kiddies Expected in Parade at 2 p.m.—Streets and Tree Artistically Decorated—Local Stores Prepared for Last-Minute Rush.

All plans are completed for Stirling's Community Christmas Tree, which will be held on Saturday afternoon. This is something new for this village, and it is expected the event will go over with flying colours. The committee in charge have been busy making the necessary arrangements, and there will be at least five hundred bags, filled with candies, nuts and oranges for the kiddies. A canvas for funds has been made locally, and besides donations of candy and nuts, over $35.00 was collected. A complete list of contributors will be published in next week's issue of this paper.

The tree has been erected on the street east of the Memorial Park, which has been closed for the occasion. It is adorned with coloured lights. Myriad multi-coloured lights spaced at close intervals and suspended above the pavement, were lighted on Saturday night, and make the downtown area most attractive, and presents a glittering spectacle of red, blue, green and white burning bulbs. Both the erection of the lights and the decoration and placing of the tree were done through the courtesy of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The News-Argus suggests that the lights be left "twinkling" until after New Year's Day.

Rural Public School Children are invited to join in the parade with the local kiddies and receive a bag of "sweets". The parade will be from the public or High School, at 2 p.m. It will be headed by Santa Claus, followed by Stirling's newly-organized band, under the leadership of Ned Potts, and will be in charge of the Boy Scouts. The march will wind up at the Tree where Santa Claus, in person, will present each youngster in the parade with a bag well filled with candy, nuts, oranges and gum. Gaily children in the parade will receive candy. Following the program at the Tree, the youngsters will be given a free show at Stirling Theatre where "Dr. Bull", with Will Rogers, will be screened. This will give out-of-town, as well as local parents and grownups an opportunity to do their Christmas shopping without having the kiddies along. So parents, bring your youngsters in to see Santa Claus on Saturday and give them a treat.

Local stores are well stocked with Christmas merchandise, and as one local lady remarked: "It is surprising the things you can get in the local stores. I have all my gifts and needs, and have not purchased one article out of Stirling." May others follow her example and forget about "faraway green fields" in shopping. The stores in their bright and attractive decoration have the old-time Christmas shopping atmosphere. Many are doing their shopping early and the throngs of customers on Saturday and so far this week is generally regarded as a promise of a volume of business this year that will probably exceed last year. A prevailing sentiment that conditions have been showing definite improvement was reflected in the optimistic outlook of the merchants for a concluding week that would overcome the temporary setback of this week's severe weather.

In the range of goods shown throughout the local stores there is further evidence of confidence that this year will actually mark the turn of the times. Prices are exceptionally attractive and all the buying for the Christmas trade has been directed to securing for shoppers the utmost value for their money. This applies to the staple as well as to the special gift articles which predominate in the year's end holiday business.

So let everybody get behind the Tree event and make it a success in every way. Remember, it will be a big event in the minds and hearts of the youngsters.

NEW P. S. INSPECTOR

The News-Argus, along with the majority of the members of the local Board of Education was surprised to learn on Monday night that Stirling Public School would not be under the jurisdiction of Inspector A. W. McGuire of Centre Hastings Inspectorate after January 1st. Mr. A. Martin, of Brighton, will be the inspector for next year. This information came through Inspector McGuire, but as yet no information has been received from the Department of Education, Toronto, on whover has "the say" in the matter, who seems somewhat peculiar. Mr. McGuire has been inspector for the local school for the past nine years and was popular with both the Board of Education and the staff. He was ever ready to co-operate in furthering the welfare of the school.

DIED

McTAGGART — In Stirling, on Tuesday night, December 19th, at the home of his niece, Mrs. Mac Neil, Ian, Daniel, McTaggart, in his eighty-fourth year. The funeral was held in St. Andrew's Church this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and interment took place in Stirling Cemetery.

WHAT ABOUT RAWDON HOCKEY LEAGUE?

In conversation yesterday with Maj. Fraser, of Glen Ross, who has ever the interest of rural sport in this district at heart, he informed the News-Argus that an endeavour would be made to form a Rawdon Hockey League again this year. This, no doubt, will be glad news to rural pucksters. A meeting in the interest of re-organizing the league will be held in the local Agricultural office on Saturday evening, December 30th, at eight o'clock.

BE CAREFUL CHILDREN!

With the local streets coated with ice and snow, children have been using them as a "sleigh slide". This is a dangerous habit, and the youngsters are warned to cease same ere a serious accident occurs. One youngster had a narrow escape on Friday when the driver of a car applied the brakes to avoid hitting the young skidded, but fortunately missed the sleigh. Parents are urged to warn their children of the danger of this pastime.

HORSES DROWNED

Mr. Norman Rosebush, of River Valley, had the misfortune of losing a valuable team of horses on Monday afternoon about four-thirty. Mr. Rosebush was drawing straw across the river and was returning to his home with the last load, when, without warning the ice gave away and the horses dropped into the water. Neighbours were soon at the scene, and after some forty minutes the horses were dragged out, but were dead from exposure. The sleighs were pulled out on Tuesday.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education held its regular meeting on Monday night, owing to the fact that the last Monday of the month, the scheduled date falls on Christmas. There were just sufficient members to make a quorum, as follows: J. S. Morton, H. C. Martin, C. R. Bastedo, E. G. Bailey, Earl Luery and Dr. C. F. Walt. A communication was received from the Cadet Services of Canada, requesting the Board to give a guarantee of safekeeping for the Cadet rifles and other equipment, which according to the letter amounted to $376.38. The Board decided that the guarantee be given, after a consultation with H. S. Prin. Lawlor, by the Cadet Com.

A letter was received from P. S. Inspector A. W. McGuire, of Tweed, stating that he had paid his last visit to Stirling School, last week, and that in the future the local school would be under the supervision of Inspector A. A. Martin, of Brighton. This was surprising news to the members, who had not received any information on the matter from the Department. Mr. McGuire thanked the Board for its co-operation during his term of the past nine years, and considered it one of the most capable in the Inspectorate. The Secretary was instructed to write Inspector McGuire, expressive of the Board's appreciation of his interest in the Public School and to wish him success in his new field.

The Association of High School Boards of Ontario, submitted questions to be discussed by the Board, which are to be dealt with at the next convention to be held in the latter part of February. Dr. Walt suggested, and the same was adopted, that a typewritten copy of the questions be supplied each member for consideration and the same be dealt with at the next meeting. The questions are as follows:

1—Are you satisfied with examination fees at present?
2—Are you satisfied with the present system of extra remuneration to Teachers for presiding at examinations during June.
3—Was the date of Departmental Examinations satisfactory this year?
4—Are you in favour of abolishing Departmental Examinations except for entrance to the University, and the giving of a graduation certificate from the school in place of the present Matriculation Certificate?
5—Are you in favour of changing the curriculum in order to more practical subjects, may be taught by pupils who only propose to attend High School for a short time.

ST. PAUL'S Y. P. S.

St. Paul's Y.P.S. terminated their activities for 1933 by the presentation of an excellent Christmas program at their meeting held in the church parlours on Monday evening.

Following a brief devotional period, conducted by the President, Mr. Harry Hulm, bright Christmas Carol singing was enjoyed by all. In keeping with these Christmas carols, Mrs. Cecil Macklin read the Christmas lesson relating the "Story of the Birth of Christ". Mr. Wm. Fitchett led in prayer. Miss Marion Jones, 3rd vice-President, took charge of the remaining program. Mrs. E. W. Rowland delighted the audience with a piano number entitled "Christmas Meditation". The outstanding feature of the evening was a splendid talk given by Mr. Harry Lovibond in which he related the Christmas Story as told in the Gospels, and very graphically described the conditions of Palestine at that time. This address was very interesting and was listened to with rapt attention. Marion Tulloch sang very sweetly a Christmas solo. Miss Jones put on a Bible Contest, White and Blue divisions gaining equal honours. The Mizpah Benediction concluded the meeting.

CURRENT COMMENT

A Merry, Merry Christmas to all our subscribers, advertisers and friends.

Tomorrow is Nomination Day in this district. Now municipal candidates have a chance to rush to the front if they so desire.

Saturday will be a big day in Stirling, when Santa Claus pays a visit. It is expected hundreds of kiddies of the district will be present at the Community Christmas Tree in the afternoon to receive free candies and nuts.

Stirling business section looks quite "natty" this week with the coloured lights strung across at intervals and the decorated Community Christmas Tree, east of the Memorial Park. This decoration adds greatly in stimulating the Christmas spirit. The manner in which donations have been received from the business men and citizens for the Tree Fund, speaks highly for the splendid community spirit that prevails.

Taxpayers of Stirling have retained their reputation for paying their taxes. Treasurer Patterson reported at the final Council meeting that only $2400 of the 1933 taxes remains unpaid. Last year the amount was a little over $1200. Even though the amount unpaid is about double for this year, the ratepayers are to be commended for their splendid showing, which we doubt can be surpassed in any other village in the Province.

Local property owners will not be called upon to vote on the question of inaugurating a Public Utilities at the January elections. At the final meeting of the Council on Friday night it was discovered that there was insufficient time to advertise the necessary by-law — it requiring from three to five weeks. Hence the question was dropped, although Reeve West and Councillors Rollins and Dobbie were in favour, while Councillors Burditt and Cranston were opposed to the issue.

The Nomination Meeting

Stirling's nomination meeting will be held tomorrow, (Friday) evening, when the members of the Village Council and other civic bodies will appear before the electors to give an account of their stewardships. By that time the spirit of Christmas will be in the air and it should dominate the meeting. Ratepayers who do not attend the meetings of Council and perhaps never read the Council meeting reports in the paper, should come out and learn what their representatives are doing. If they will do this, a whole lot of unnecessary and uncalled for criticism will be eliminated and a wealth of valuable information obtained.

Municipal election time is a time when all prejudices, and all favoritisms should be forgotten. Men should not be placed in responsible positions unless they are capable of filling them to the benefit of the village. Popularity, church membership, political or fraternal affiliations should have no part in municipal elections. In the past many good men have been kept out of public service because of the petty and childish attitude of some taxpayers who constantly bombard them with carping criticisms and childish accusations. It is time that citizens in general realized that it is a sacrifice to serve on the municipal boards and that hearty co-operation is what is needed to replace the mild personal grievances that are quite often brought into the limelight, thus beclouding the more important issues at stake.

LETTER FROM MISS F. MATTHEWS TELLS OF GRATEFUL PEOPLE IN WEST

The following letter, recently received from Miss Freida Matthews, who is a deaconess in a Presbyterian Girls' School in Red Deer District, in the West, tells of the gratefulness of those who received supplies from a bale sent by the local branch of the Presbyterian Missionary Society, to the Members of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, and to all other friends who so kindly contributed toward the bales of clothing which were sent to Red Deer.

Dear Friends,—
What a wonderful time I have had this week unpacking and sorting over your welcome gifts of clothing. But my joy was small compared to the joy brought to the homes where bundles have already been sent. I wish some of you could have been clipped behind the door and listened to the words of appreciation and praise when the gifts were examined.
My heart was full of thankfulness for having such good friends back in Stirling.

Come with me on an imaginary trip to one home where a box of clothing was taken. The buggy is too small for bundles and passengers, so we shall use the democrat which has practically no springs, but if you do not mind bumps, off we go. For eight miles the roads are fair and then we come to what is known as a trail.
Hang on tightly for the road is rough now, the little hills are steep and sometimes slippery. Do not mind if the horses sit down once or twice on the ice. They always seem to be able to scramble up on the right side of the pole. We need a little school and a short distance beyond we turn straight into the bush. Apparently the family we are going to visit are the only people who use this trail for it is difficult to follow. At last we see a clearing ahead and a log house comes in view. Playing out in front are two little children, one four years old and the other about two. When they see us they run inside; visitors come so seldom that these little girls are timid. The mother greets us pleasantly and invites us to come in. The interior of the house is clean but oh, so poverty-stricken. As we talk we learn the story of this home, a story which has become quite common during the last few years in this great West.

Land had been purchased, an attempt was made to clear and break the soil for grain growing, but it dropped, crops failed, they could raise their own food, but there was no money to buy clothing. How our hearts leap with joy when we carry in the box, see the cords cut and the lid lifted. Such exclamations of joy.
That pair of overshoes will just fit
Mother. What a pretty rose dress!
It will just suit Dorothy. Wee Margaret spies a little white fur coat and in her baby talk calls loudly for it.
We slip it on her and how proudly she parades before the family. A little white bonnet, a pair of mittens, warm stockings and little shoes complete the outfit. Daddy gets warm underwear and socks. The whole family is now happily and comfortably clad.

As we drive homeward we forget the rough trail, the steep slippery hills, the democrat that has no springs. Even the horses seem to fare to the westward we see the snow-capped peaks of the Rockies.
Just behind them the sun is going down, with all the beauty and gorgeous colourings of western sunset. And as we gaze on that won-derous scene we remember the parting words of the mother in that little log shack, "God bless you and the friends in Ontario who contributed towards the bales. Please write to tell them how thankful we

So the days go on, the parcels are distributed and many homes throughout these districts you folk in Stirling are being remembered in prayer by these thankful people.
I am saving the sweets so kindly donated by Mrs. Hammond, until Christmas. The members of my Girls' Group here at Willowdale are busy now making dolls and toys to be given out, along with the sweet-ies, too, would add my words of appreciation to those I am sending on behalf of my people.

May God's richest blessing and peace be with you all at this Christmas season and during the coming

RURAL MAIL ANNIVERSARY

Twenty-five years have now passed since the great boon of rural free mail delivery was first given to the farmers of this country. This was one of the most acceptable measures introduced by the Laurier ministry and it took form on Oct. 10th, 1908, during the regime of the Hon. Rodolph Lemieux as Postmaster-General. The official record of rural free mail delivery in Canada is given as follows:

A system of rural mail delivery was inaugurated in Canada on Oct. 10th, 1908, limited at that time to existing stage routes, persons residing on such routes being entitled to have mail boxes put up in which the mail carrier was to deposit mail matter and from which he was to collect mail matter and carry it to the postoffice.
As a consequence of the public approval of this scheme, new regulations, taking effect April 1st, 1912, made all persons residing in rural districts along and contiguous to well-defined main thoroughfares of one mile and upwards eligible to receive their mail in this manner, while couriers on rural mail routes were also required to sell postage stamps and take applications, and accept money, for money orders and postal notes.
The result has been an increase in the number of rural routes from approximately 900 in 1912, to 4,315 in 1932, having 235,755 mail boxes as against approximately 25,000 in 1912.
The establishment of these routes has been an important factor in the amelioration of conditions of Canadian rural life.

Putting your shoulder to the wheel counts for nothing unless you put push into your shoulder.

The man who makes $50 a month, and spends $45 has more peace of mind than the one who makes $1,000 and spends $1,200.

Lawyer (to plainly dressed witness) I presume, my good fellow, you're a laborer?

Witness (who was a civil engineer)

—you are right. I am a working-man, sir.

Lawyer—Familiar with the use of the pick, shovel, and spade, I presume?

Witness—To some extent. Those are not the principal implements of my trade, though.

Lawyer—Perhaps you will condescend to enlighten me as to your principal implements?

Witness—It is hardly worth while. You don't understand the nature of their use.

Lawyer (loftily)—Probably not, but I insist on knowing what they are.

Witness—Brains

If Christmas were rescued from the hands of swapping adults and returned to the children to whom it belongs, it would not be so profitable to the merchants but it would be a happier to all of us.

Stirling Girl (to her sweetie)—Do you remember when you were first struck by my looks?

Boy Friend—I think it was at the masked ball.

Trenton Man (Making up his Christmas list)—When I think of all the lonely men in this town, friendless, without family or home at Christmas time—gosh, I envy them!

Every once in a while you will run across the kind of fellow who, at the dinner table, persists in passing everything at least once around the table after the dishes have all been served and want to eat.

Briggs, the owner of the new store, asked his manager how trade had been progressing during his absence.

Manager—Like clockwork, sir.

Briggs—Good! I'll just have a look at the books.

After a searching inspection of the books, he turned to his manager.

Briggs—You're right. It is going like clockwork—every blessed thing we've sold lately has been on time.

Clergyman's Daughter—Father's subject tonight is to be "Love Each Other"; Do you want to go, George?

George—Well, dear, don't you think it would be better to stay at home and practice what your father is preaching?

FULLER

The jingle of the bells has been heard for a few days but the rain is trying hard to have the bells put away again. Now we all would appreciate sleighing for Christmas week anyway.

Mr. Arthur Brough is holidaying over the week-end at Bayville.

Mr. Albert Mitta had the misfortune to cut his thumb, necessitating medical aid.

A play entitled "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was enacted in the United Church on Wednesday night by the young people of Zion's Hill. We cannot say enough in favour of the actors, and as been repeated several times, we are just sorry that everybody, young and old, did not see this great Temperance Play. Reports have it they are booked for twelve places yet, so we hope all the readers of the News-Argus will have the privilege of hearing it. Many of those who heard it at Fuller are planning on hearing it again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geen and Mabel spent Sunday with Plainfield friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer and Beverly spent Friday with Belleville friends.

Master Nelson Morton, who has been in our midst for the past six months is returning to his home in Detroit on Thursday.

SPRINGBROOK

Mr. T. J. Thompson is seriously ill, but we are hoping that he will soon recover.

A lot of practising is being done by teachers and children to make the concert in the Orange Hall on Friday night, a successful one. Judging from the time and energy spent this concert should excel many previous ones.

John Frederick Johnson, born 15th, 1833, the little infant son, John Frederick, aged two months and twenty days, twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson passed away.

The little fellow had only been sick a short time, but was too delicate to throw off a heavy cold. The funeral service was held at the home on Tuesday afternoon, with the pastor, Rev. F. G. Joblin, in charge. Friends of the community extend deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston at this time.

We remember well our sorrow As we stood beside his bed, And our deep and heartfelt anguish When they said that he was dead. And Oh! that cup of bitterness, Let not our hearts rebel; God gave, He took, He will restore.

SAY "GOLD SNOW" IS MERELY DUST

Residents of Madoc district and other parts north of Stirling looked long and hard, blinked their eyes and then sought confirmation from others of what they saw as "gold snow" fell in that section on Friday. The rust-colored substance covering the ground to a depth of about one-eighth of an inch, was first noticed early in the afternoon and towards the end of the storm that had blown up early on Friday morning. Opinions varied as to the reason for its appearance.

The forestry department branch, however, suggested dust particles, blown up from some distant sand plains as a possible solution.

"For the Children's Sake"

An open letter to every motorist in Ontario

We have learned to think of Christmas as the children's festival—the time when child-hopes and happiness are lifted high in every home in city, town, and village.

But Christmas-tide is very often a season of icy roads and slippery streets, when driving becomes difficult and dangerous, and cars slide and slip over the treacherous surface. It is the time when accidents and fatalities can happen without warning—unless drivers realize the imperative need for added care and extra caution.

Throughout the province to-day, thousands of children are eagerly anticipating the coming of Christmas, and the joy of the days to follow when the presents and pleasures of that day will bring renewed happiness and enjoyment.

If, by any fault of driving or from any neglect of some simple rule of safety, you were to deprive one of these children of health and strength, even of life itself—what a responsibility would be yours! For the children's sake, this appeal is made to you, and to every motorist in Ontario: that throughout this winter, you undertake to drive carefully, cautiously, sanely, and safely, lest one child's life be lost, or one little form crippled or torn? Don't let any home in Ontario be darkened by sorrow and sadness this Christmas-tide because YOU did not drive carefully enough.

This is an objective worth the effort—and its cost is only a little more care as you drive.

More and more the considerate motorists of Ontario are realizing how much depends upon them, in the campaign for safety driving on our roads. It is a matter of deep gratification to know that fatalities in which automobiles are concerned are decreasing in this province. From January 1st to October 31st, 1933, there were 71 less fatalities of that character than in the same period last year.

For this marked improvement in safety-driving the Government of Ontario offers its thanks and congratulations to the motorists of the province. It is a definite indication that the majority of drivers of automobiles in Ontario are co-operating in a real endeavour to reduce the death-toll of the open road.

To ensure that this gratifying improvement is maintained during the dangerous days of winter, as well as throughout the coming year, will YOU not make this resolution, if for no other reason than "for the children's sake": to protect life and health by driving with care and caution, by observing the simple rules of the road, and by making safety your motto as you drive along the highways and the by-ways of the Province?

SYNOPSIS: Ruth Warren, who lives in the East, is killed three-fourth interest in the "Dead Lantern" ranch in Arizona by her only brother, who is reported to have met his death while on business in Mexico. Arriving in Arizona with her husband, who has ailing lungs and their small child, she learns that the ranch is located 85 miles from the nearest railroad. Old Charley Thane, rancher and rural mail carrier agrees to take them to the "Dead Lantern" gate, 5 miles from the ranch house. As they trudge wearily through a gulch approaching the ranch house, a voice whispers "Go back. Go back." Ruth's husband caught in a rain shortly after their arrival contracts pneumonia and passes away before medical aid can be brought. Ruth, penniless and without friends attempts to carry on but is balked at almost every turn by the crafty and plotting Snaveley. Despite obstacles of all kind Ruth gives notes on her ranch interest to purchase cattle. She is assisted by Old Charley Thane and his son, Will Thane. A Mexican family has been hired to assist with the work. A peculiar sickness develops with the livestock. Snaveley calls it "liver fever" and says he has a powder for the water to cure the disease. Ruth discovers trickery in Snaveley's tactics of poisoning her cattle, but says nothing, waiting for additional evidence. Drought is overcome by slaking a well in the ravine, getting water for the perishing stock. At the round-up Ruth has enough stock to sell to meet her notes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Mr. Snaveley, look here!" There was nothing aggressive in Ruth's tone but it was like no tone she had ever used to Snaveley. "Look at this."

Ann stepped to the door of the kitchen and stood silently, her eyes on Ruth.

"Well," said Snaveley as he read the opening words. He said nothing more until he had finished, then without lifting his head, "Well—well I'll be! Grey's alive, after all. Couldn't get a word to nobody 'til just now. If that don't beat all!" He looked at Ruth, then lowered his eyes to the paper again. "Wants me to come and get him. Hermosillo—powerful long job getting six days west of these. Must be desolate, sure 'nough, else we'd get word of him sooner. Well, things like that happen. But it beats all," he mused.

"We shall start to Harry at once," said Ruth, decidedly. "The Thanes are coming home late tonight and—"

"Thanes? What they got to do with this?" Snaveley's eyes narrowed. "I think it would be best if Old Charley went with me. I'm sure that under the circumstances he would go, and he knows the country and speaks Spanish better than I."

"You're set on goin' yoursef, eh?" Snaveley regarded her quizzically. "Why most certainly! Of course I shall go."

"Well, jest the same, I don't see the sense in mixin' the Thanes up with this. If you're a mind to go without me, why don't you take Francisco? But the best thing would be for you an' me to light out together tomorrow mornin'."

Ruth thought a moment; she might go with Don Francisco—perhaps that would be best. But she certainly would not go alone with Snaveley. She looked at him. "Perhaps Don Francisco and I could manage it," she said.

Again Snaveley studied her intently. There was something in her tone and manner which was quite new. She was no longer afraid. "Look here," he said sharply, "what's the matter of me goin' anyways?"

The girl was suddenly angry; Snaveley could not afford to speak to her like that any longer. She straightened. "Mr. Snaveley, there are several very good reasons why I do not wish you to go with me; and there are reasons why you should respect my wishes. It is your own good."

"There are a number of things I must tell my brother when we meet."

Snaveley paled. "What can you tell him?" he asked gruffly.

"I shall tell him about the way in which you bought my cattle note."

But Mrs. Warren—I tol' you why I done that," said Snaveley in a relieved voice. "I done it to protect you."

"When I was in town," continued Ruth, "I consulted an attorney about my position on this ranch. I learned that I was not your partner and never had been. And I understand quite plainly that you knew this, and that if I had failed to meet my note, you would have been in legal possession of the entire ranch."

"Well, but—" Snaveley paused, helplessly. The guilt and consternation on his face, as well as the letter in her hand, gave the girl courage.

"The whole thing has been placed before my attorney," said Ruth.

"The whole—thing?"

"Yes. When I learned that I was not a partner and that you had purchased the note I understood how anxious you were to have me fail to meet it. But let's not say anything more about that."

"But I don't see," replied Snaveley, guardedly, "what you got to get up pity. Suppose you wasn't a partner—that's your fault."

Ruth's anger mounted. "That sounds very well. But what will my brother think when I tell him about the mysterious disease you called 'liver fever'? What will he think when I tell him how I came to put the wrong powder in the spring troughs that night?"

"Are you accusin' me—" Snaveley's voice rang, then died away before the girl's steady gaze. He dropped his eyes. Ruth was triumphant; the man was beaten, he was afraid of her now! "Didn't you ever think," he asked falteringly, "that things might look different than what they are?"

"No," said Ruth boldly. But although he stood cringing before her, Snaveley did not appear so abject as Ruth thought he should be. Didn't he realize he could be sent to prison? "Do you say you tried everything you could to make me lose my interest?"

He did not reply to her question. But after a moment he said slowly, still with lowered eyes, "Them things is hard to prove."

"I don't think so! But I can tell you something else which is not hard to prove: I can whisper in the gulch as well as anyone else!" He raised his eyes quickly, his face a dead white. Ruth glanced lingeringly toward Ann, then back again. "The night of the storm, Mr. Snaveley," she said quietly.

He faced her in silence; the muscles of his long stringy throat contracted spasmodically. Suddenly he turned, and walking slowly to his room, entered. Almost at once he reappeared, the packet of bank notes which Ruth had given him in his hand. He held them out. "You best take these here an' go get your brother."

Ruth took the notes. She thought she understood; when she and Harry returned, Snaveley would not be on the Dead Lantern. Perhaps that was the best solution. She turned to Ann. "Ann, I wish you would get the buckboard and take David and me over to Thanes'. I'll have an early supper ready by the time you harness up."

Snaveley had walked toward his room, now he turned and came back. "I don't think you'd best go mixin' the Thanes in this."

In spite of the apparent humbleness of his tone, a twinge of fear caught Ruth's heart. But she answered, "I don't see that it can make any difference to you now, Mr. Snaveley."

"It makes a sight of difference to me!" he said sharply, and his eyes, no longer jerking, bored into hers.

Ruth gripped herself. "Do you realize that you are a criminal and that you will face arrest as soon as I bring my brother back?"

To the girl's amazement, Snaveley smiled. "You like fancy words," he said slowly, "so I'll ask you if you realize where you stand now?" His voice rose shrilly. "Don't you see that your brother bein' alive makes the will no good? The will don't work by God! You ain't got no right—no right no pardner an' you ain't got no interest in this ranch. D'you get that? I'm boss here now!" He whirled to Ann. "Git your black face outa here!"

"But my brother—"

"Your brother—how do I know he's your brother? He never told me nothin' about you nor nothin' about any will. Cordin' to my way a-thinkin' you come here jest to steal his interest. Who are you anyways? You're a plumb stranger to me—you ain't got a thing to say about this ranch an' never did have. What about all that truck you was jest a-talkin'—that goin' on about the cattle dyin'? What of it? Fer all anybody knows, I was 'stet my best to keep you from stealin' my pardner blind, that's what I was doin'! An' the law would say the same."

Snaveley stepped closer, his face thrust forward and his pale eyes glittering. "You come on this place with a paper you say is a sure 'nough will, but you ain't got nothin' to prove it."

Ruth was against the wall. She was trembling. Tightly she gripped the letter in her hand and summoned all her courage. "But your partner is my brother—he will be coming back here soon—he may even come today—any time. The letter must have been sent quite a while ago and he was much better—he might have been able to get to the railroad station without any help."

"All right! If he's your brother, why don't you go get him? What'er you a-standin' there for? I give you the money. Why don't you git goin'?" He left Ruth contemptuously and stepped to the kitchen door. Ann was still inside. For a moment he spoke rapidly to her in Spanish. Ruth could not catch more than a word or two. While he was still speaking, Ann hurried from the door, passed Ruth with a glance, and left the house on the way to the barn.

Snaveley turned to the girl. "You're a good test as soon as Ann's ready collect your kid an' your things an' git out! By sundown there ain't goin' to be nobody on this place but me. I'll have that greaser outfit loaded an' started off this place in ten minutes! Then I'm goin' for a mile of a ride. When I come back there ain't goin' to be nobody here! You think you can go a-clutterin' up this place with people an' drive a man outa his mind—I'll show you! Git goin'!" He strode past her and out of the house.

Ruth let him go—there was nothing further to say. But she'd find Harry. She heard the steps of Snaveley's horse, and presently saw him galloping toward the little abode house where Magda was taking her washing which had rested on the bushes since early morning. He stopped his horse with a jerk and called. Don Francisco and Alfredo came to the doorway; Magda stood in the yard, her arms full of clothes. Snaveley spoke fiercely. Once Don Francisco pointed toward the ranch house and asked a question. Snaveley's voice roared in reply. A moment or two later Alfredo was hurrying to find Don Francisco's team and Magda had thrown her wash into the old man's wagon. Snaveley rode away toward the mountains.

The tears welled into Ruth's eyes—those poor people. They had been so happy. Like trusting children, they had accepted her gift of the land and the little house, the gift which was to have been theirs for so long as they lived and worked hard. They had worked hard.

As she entered the house she saw Ann leading two horses through the corral. Ruth went into her room and began to pack.

Before she had finished she could hear the sound of the team and buckboard coming from the barn toward the house. Ann stopped by the small mesquite where Ruth's horse still stood, and climbed from the buckboard.

"Ann," said Ruth appealingly, as the girl came toward her, "Ann, please help me!"

"Shorely, Miss Ruth—I'll he'p you pack."

"Not that, Ann—take me to Thanes'."

"I must go there at once. We'll put all my things in the buckboard and then drive there. They'll be home some time tonight or tomorrow morning."

Ann dropped her eyes and slowly shook her head. "I reckon I dasn't fer doin' nothin' 'cept what I was tol' to do, Miss Ruth."

Ruth tried to appear surprised. "But Mr. Snaveley knows I wanted to go to Thanes'."

"No'm. He tol' me you'd try to make me do that. He says I got to take you right to the railroad."

"But please, Ann—you'll do it for me. He won't know—please, Ann; I beg you to."

The girl stood with bowed head and twisted her hands together. "I wish I could, Miss Ruth, I wish to, Gawd I could."

"Ann, listen to me!" Ruth grasped the huge arm. "Listen, Ann, I discovered the voice in the gulch—it's Snaveley. There's a trick to it—he's been tricking you with it, scaring you so that you would be afraid of him and do as he told you."

The Secretary read some letters of interest. An instrumental selection was played by Mrs. G. Cooke. A humorous reading was given by Mrs. S. SMALL FAMILY HAVE NARROW ESCAPE
IN PETERBORO FIRE

The following article appeared in Friday's issue of the Peterboro Examiner, relating to a fire in the home of Mr. Kenneth Sine of that city. Mr. Sine is a son of Mrs. M. W. Sine, of Stirling.

"Had I not awakened when I did, I fear to think what the consequences might have been. Just after five or ten minutes and we might have been trapped in the flames," stated Mrs. Kenneth M. Sine, 717 George Street North, as she surveyed the damage caused by an early morning fire which broke out in a lean-to shed at the north side of the house.

Mrs. Sine related that she was occupying a bedroom adjoining the kitchen on the ground floor, along with her three children, whose ages range from eighteen months to thirteen years. "The baby was sleeping," she said, "and I had been awake at various times through the night with her. At about three o'clock this morning I was partly awake, and had just switched on the light when I noticed and smelt smoke which was starting to pour in through the bedroom door."

Leaping out of bed, Mrs. Sine told The Examiner she had gone into the kitchen thinking that the fire was smoking, when she heard a crackling noise in the shed. She opened the door leading from the kitchen to the shed, and a great flash of flame drove her back. Calling to her oldest child, Jean, to get the other two children out of the bedroom, Mrs. Sine hastened to a neighbour's house to telephone the Fire Department.

Mr. Sine, who was out of the city at the time of the fire, makes a lobby of breeding collie dogs. One thoroughbred collie dog was on the property at the time of the fire, who owes his life to the fact that Mrs. Sine permitted him to sleep back of the kitchen stove, instead of in the shed; for "protection," she explained.

Besides the kennels, the shed housed a quantity of household effects, which were all destroyed. Damage will amount to several hundreds of dollars.

Good work was performed by the Fire Department under Fire Chief George Glimblett, despite the fact that there was slight delay at the outset due to a frozen hydrant. The outbreak, the cause of which is still undetermined, was confined to the place of origin, although smoke damage inside the house was extensive.

MOUNT PLEASANT

We wish the Editor and Staff, Fellow correspondents and Readers a very Merry Christmas.

Best of All

I like the pretty parcels that Christmas always brings,
I like the holly wrappings and the tinsel and tinsels,
I like the pleasing presents that in each package hide,
But best of all I like the love that's tucked away inside.

An angel's song, a star on high,
A gleaming light, a radiant sky,
A Mother's hair, a Baby's sweet,
Lowly Shepherds at His Feet,
Wise men with their treasures rare,
Good will hovering everywhere,
Peace and joy, and beauty bright,
That was the first glad Christmas night.

December Twenty Fourth
Tomorrow you are again, who died so many times,
Do you like the candle-light, do you like the chiming?
Do you stop to wonder why men never see How very closely Bethlehem approaches Calvary?

Shower for Willie Montgomery

Despite the very cold weather a goodly number of folks gathered at Mount Pleasant Hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 13th, to spend a social evening in honour of Willie Montgomery and his bride. Mr. Clifford Holmes capably presided over several numbers of community singing, the last one being "Seeing Nellie Home" and Miss Olive McConnell acted as pianist. Rev. F. G. Joblin then took charge on this happy occasion and spoke of the delightful opportunity of becoming acquainted with a young lady who has recently come to the community to make her home. An appropriate duet "If you have no one to love when you're old" was given by Messrs Harold White and Alfred Powell with guitar accompaniment. Mr. John Cogins, with Miss Edna Thrasher as accompanist, sang in Harry Lauder style "I love a lassie" and as an encore "Save a Little One for Me". Misses Anna Sharp and Frances McKeown rendered a guitar and piano selection. Misses Edna Thrasher and Frances McKeown gave a piano duet "Flick and Flock". Mrs. Frank Smith rendered a humorous monologue "Grandma's Photograph Album", with local hits. Miss Fay Andrews captivated her audience with two guitar and vocal solos: "Do you want your girl to love you" and "Oh to be single again". Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers rendered several musical selections on harmonica and autoharp. Mr. Alfred Powell gave a guitar and vocal solo "Make me a Cowboy again for a day." Mr. John Firman recited "The Anniversary Party." Rev. Joblin then escorted the bride and groom to the platform and Mr. Orno Sharp read a very appropriate address, to which they both suitably replied. The young couple then opened the various parcels, revealing a nice array of kitchenware, China, towels, silver and a pair of blankets. A light lunch of sandwiches, cake, cheese and coffee was then served. After a social half hour the guests departed, wishing the newlyweds much happiness on their matrimonial journey. The following is the address:

Mount Pleasant, Ont.
To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Montgomery,
We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to show you Bill, our appreciation of friendship toward you during your unmarried days among us, and to welcome to our Church and community, your charming bride.

We don't mean to bribe you in any way, but we have greatly appreciated you on Sunday and week days. You have been a regular attendant in our Sabbath School and Church; also in League. In our athletic work, we might look around and see you taking part, although you are quite small.
And you, Irene, whom most of us have had the privilege of meeting, we wish to welcome to our midst, and any social activities, and to assure you, that you have chosen one of our popular young men of this community for a husband and partner in life. As mere words fail to express our feelings at this time, we ask you to accept these gifts merely as a slight token, not for value, but as a Remembrance in your everyday life.

Signed on behalf of your many friends at Mount Pleasant, Oscar Merrick, Lindsay McKeown, Orno Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery and Mrs. and Mrs. Lorne Green, of Frankford attended the shower here last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Oscar Merrick and Bobby are holidaying with relatives at Queensboro.

Folks here extend congratulations to Herb on his success. Herb is a member of the Boys' Athletic Club here and has resided in our midst for the past four years.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Foley for the use of their home. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. John S. McKeown. The officers will be elected at this meeting for 1934.

About fifty friends of Jack Laid gathered at his home on Tuesday evening last on the occasion of his 25th birthday. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing cards and dancing. Music was supplied by Messrs Clarke Haig, violin, and Mr. Cook, guitar. Mr. Cook also gave some old time songs, which were much enjoyed.

Granville Rutherford, of Havelock spent a few days last week with his uncle, Mr. Fred Rutherford.

SEEN THROUGH THE OFFICE WINDOW

(By The Office OWL)

The two local entries in the boxing tournament under the auspices of the Boy Scouts attracted considerable attention. H. Higgs won his bout in no half-way manner. It was just a case of "You should have seen the other guy!" Higgs, it is said had never before entered a real "ring", and had only practised in friendly workouts with neighboring boys. After seeing the havoc created with those fists of his we aren't sure we would want to be one of the "pugilists".

On the other hand, the other local entry flitted around like a housefly until his opponent took a "swat" at him, and then he still played "fly" and fell to the floor and was picked up and sent to the cleaners.

There are two different ways of boxing, and the two aforementioned fighters were good examples of both kinds.

It was a good show—worth a lot more than the price of admission charged, and as good an exhibition of the art of "flatcutting" as one would see in the larger cities. Let's have another!

WANTED — Five men who can withstand abuse of abuse and condemnation; who can be prepared to do anything from clean out the ditch behind the stores on Mill Street to dig a well for a supply of satisfactory "ironless" water for the waterworks system; must be handy at fixing roads, trimming trees and settling arguments; must be in favour of everything that everybody wants and able to wiggle around getting it for them; also they must be able to "kick" themselves into helping that "the customer is always right". Nationality doesn't count, but followers of Hitler are barred. Taxes must be paid to date if not a little in advance; married men, preferred in order that applicants may possess experience in answering silly questions. Must have lots of free time at their disposal and expect nothing for their trouble, except to be kicked out this time next year. Apply at the Northmen Meeting in the Community Hall tomorrow (Friday) night, around seven o'clock. P.S.—Outside of the few qualifications outlined above, no experience is necessary.

Most of the ratpayers will be surprised to learn that the well-digger who was imported to find a well suitable for the local system of waterworks, was careful in finding everything else but water in the drilling operation.

Many of those who are troubled with water in their cellars think they know where plenty of water could easily be found without having anyone present with them a bill for $88 for doing it.

And the 1933 Council is a thing of the past. Whether the component parts are due for a resting place above or below will be heard around the first of the New Year.

The chief trouble among the local sports seems to be centred around "Ace" Bailey, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who was so seriously injured at Boston. Although he is very seriously injured, it is to be hoped the "Ace" will soon be able to appear on the Toronto line-up and be responsible for Foster Hewitt's favorite yell — "HE SCORES!"

The streets of the Village are certainly very pretty, and those in charge of the erection of the coloured lights thereon, and the decoration of the Christmas trees are deserving of credit. It is something new and different as far as Stirling is concerned, and outsiders cannot be other than favourably impressed by the appearance of the business section. But still there are those who consider the effort rather useless. The latter are just the type who will probably try to hang their "sock" on the Christmas tree in hopes there will be something "free in it, or will probably be hanging around the Theatre lobby looking for a chance to "beat" their way into the kiddies' free show on Saturday afternoon.

And speaking of the free show on Saturday afternoon — be sure and make arrangements to have all the youngsters, especially from the country, on hand in time to see Santa when he arrives, and get their bag of candy and a free ticket to see a good show at the Stirling Theatre on Saturday afternoon. Christmas only comes once a year, so let the kiddies enjoy the privilege of seeing Santa "in Person" next Saturday!

If we were writing a letter to Santa, it would probably be worded something like this: Dear Santa—Please bring Tom Ward a pair of longer socks, so's he won't freeze his legs while in the Scout parade. Duff wants a tricycle so he can hurry to and from work a little faster. Please bring the little kid in the shiny pants to keep all his money in, and don't forget to leave Cub Dobble some hair tonic. All I want for myself is some oranges. I think Charlie Allen would like a little pony, on account of his sometimes has a awful time to get that otomobile of his going when he has to go to Belvul to play in the orkestry. I also hope you will leave better Christmas cigars at Cliff Baker's. What he gave last year was terrible. Tom Solmes and R. T. Dunlop intends hanging their socks on the Community Christmas tree, but I wouldn't pay any attention to that because they both got lots last Christmas. I guess that will be all, except that Bob Patterson might appreciate a little Christmas Cheer of some kind if you have anything left. Hoping you and Mrs. Santa has a lot of fun this Christmas.

We'll be seeing' yuh.
THE OFFICE OWL
P.S.—If I ain't askin' two mitch I mite also add would you please leave some new cards at Joe Whiteheads, because Alf. Hayworth and Bill Whitty has got the old ones all goosed up with taffy and stuff and Bill Simpson and George Tulloh don't like to handle them. Thanks

To the readers of this section of the News-Argus, the Office Owl extends the old but sincere wish for a Merry Christmas to one and all.

Infinitely more valuable and interesting than anything which has been written about Hitler is this book from his own pen. In the form of an autobiography, he tells the stirring story of the growth of an idea from the beginnings to the proportions of a great national movement, and of his own meteoric rise from obscurity to one of the leading figures of contemporary Europe. In this book you will find the secret of the fascination which this man exerts over millions of intelligent, highly civilized people.

A fairly large gathering of ratepayers and interested residents was present at the annual community meeting held in the Community Building on Friday evening, last week when nominations were called for Reeve, four Councillors and two members for the Board of Education. G. H. Luery, Village Clerk, acted as chairman for the occasion and upon calling nominations closed, requested those nominated for the various positions to be seated on the platform. Of the nominees, only the following were present to take seats on the platform: W. C. West, Thos. Cranston, D. A. Burditt, H. Rollins, W. Fitchett, F. Stapley, D. Utman, H. C. Martin, W. Wright and Thos. W. Solmes.

Before calling those nominated to fill the vacant positions, Clerk G. H. Luery gave an interesting and brief resume of the progress which Stirling had made in the past few years. "Stirling," he said, "has probably made greater progress than any other village of its size in the Dominion." He outlined some of the new buildings which had been erected during the past few years which included the election of over fifty buildings; the new skating rink and two fine church sheds and the fine new Community Service Building. "A building such as this should make the citizens feel justly proud," Mr. Luery stated that very few villages were as well equipped as this one, and there are no villages of its size in the Dominion which have taken picture equipment. He also stated that the water-works project was a wonderful advertisement for the village. All this equipment, thought Mr. Luery, had a tendency to advertise Stirling and keep it before the public eye as one of the finest progressive villages in the Province.

W. C. West, when called upon by the Clerk said that the financial statements which had been distributed throughout the gathering made it unnecessary for him to give a detailed account of the past year's business. He invited those present to advance any questions of which they were not certain, and these were satisfactorily explained by Mr. West. The rate had been cut by one mill, he explained, and tax collections have been good. The balance still on hand represented a little over one mill of the highest terms of the operation in the past year and with this co-operation the affairs of the village were wound up with a very favourable balance on hand.

Mr. Cranston, who during the past year had been connected with the Street Committee, gave an excellent account of the year's work. He had enjoyed the work and his desire was that it had been a success. He also spoke of the hiring of a night constable and the benefits derived therefrom.

D. A. Burditt, who had acted in the capacity of chairman of the Water-works Committee, gave explanations of some of the matters which had presented themselves to that committee. Nine new users had been added this year. He referred to the trouble the Council were having with the water supply and stated that although the Council had endeavored to find a new source of supply, the desired results had not yet been attained.

H. Rollins, who stated this was his third time before the ratepayers as a nominee, spoke of the splendid operation of the Council during the last year. He was chairman of the Cemetery Committee.

At the conclusion of Mr. Rollins' remarks, the Clerk stated that the last year's Council had worked longer hours than any previous Board he had ever worked with. He explained that he was liable to find himself still at the Council meetings at anywhere from 12.30 to 1.20 a.m. However, it had not been wasted time. The Council had worked hard and long in order to give the utmost in service to the electors and residents.

Mr. H. C. Martin, member of last year's Board of Education, stated that it had been the aim of that body to keep the schools equipped with the best in every line. The average attendance at High School was three years. It was the desire of those in charge of affairs that there should be no pupils repeating subjects in those three years so that each would get all possible benefit of the school in that period. The results obtained at the examinations in Lower School work had been 94.2 per cent success and in Upper School 92.5 per cent. These results were better than those of neighbouring schools. He had been on the Board of Education for nearly ten years, and reviewed some of the changes made in that time; also improvements made in the course of instruction, such as Manual Training. He invited those interested to visit the Manual Training classes at the Public School.

No Election in Rawdon

Nominations for Rawdon Township were held on Friday afternoon at the Rawdon Town Hall, Harold. The attendance, though not as large as on some previous occasions, was very enthusiastic and by 1 p.m. the hall was well filled with interested ratepayers. Mr. Lorne C. Bateman, Clerk of Rawdon Township, who acted as Chairman, called the following nominees to the platform: G. E. Thompson, P. Carr, Carl Clancy, G. B. Bedford, M. E. Shortt, John Bateman, H. Hoover and A. Wilson.

Mr. Geo. E. Thompson, Reeve for the past year, was first called upon, but was very brief in his remarks as his father was very ill. He outlined some of the work done at County Council, such as the amount of money paid in Old Age Pensions, Relief, etc. In Rawdon Township there are twenty-six drawing Old Age Pension. He also stated that this had been a hard year to manage the affairs of the Township.

Mr. Phillip Carr, Deputy Reeve, spoke at length on his economical policy, also much of the work of County Council such as Debentures, County Audit, etc. He read the financial statement.

The Councillors of 1933 made brief speeches also Mr. Hoover, J. Bateman and Arthur Wilson.

Those who were nominated, with their proposers, are as follows:

For Reeve
Geo. E. Thompson, by Newton White and John Burditt.
Phillip Carr, by A. Wilson and S. McCurdy.

For Deputy Reeve
John Bateman, by Edgar McKeown and T. J. Morgan.
P. Carr, by E. Searles and H. Hoover.

M. Shortt, by Reg. McGee and W. Fitchett.
C. Clancy, by Robert Wallace and Geo. Watson.

For Councillors
Chas. Lough, by W. H. Heath and J. E. Mumby.

M. E. Shortt, by John Burditt and S. McCurdy.
G. B. Bedford, by Geo. Weaver and Ross Board.

Those elected gave short speeches. High Mass was celebrated at midnight (Christmas Eve) in St. James' Church, by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Farrell, while the choir sang the Mass of St. Aloysius under the direction of Miss Ellen Shea, organist. Immediately preceding the Mass Christmas Carols were sung.

CARS COLLIDE

With the ice storm late last week, highway conditions became quite treacherous, due to the slippery surface. Cars slid, becoming uncontrollable, but fortunately only minor accidents occurred, although several of the motor vehicles landed in the ditch and one car hit a hydro pole, snapping it off on the Foxboro highway. A collision occurred in the village on Christmas morning. Mr. Volney Richardson was proceeding west on Front Street in his car, and on making a right hand turn into the driveway at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson, Mr. George Mason, driving a car in the same direction, struck the car just as it was making the turn. The Richardson car was turned completely around, and was brought to a halt directly in front of a telephone pole, while the other car escaped without damage. No one was injured. Mr. Mason assumed the responsibility of the accident.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES
IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

The Christmas Season was observed in St. John's Anglican Church by special services. On Christmas Eve a Carol Service was held, when Carols were sung by the choir and a large congregation. The address given by the Rector, Rev. A. S. McConnell, was illustrated by a number of beautiful slides on the Birth and Boyhood of Jesus Christ. During the offertory the carol "We Three Kings" was sung by the choir. The solo parts were taken by Messrs Arthur Bateman, Melville Tanner and Russell Blair.

On Christmas Day a Choral Celebration of the Holy Communion was held at 9.30 a.m., the Rev. A. S. McConnell being the Celebrant. At the conclusion of the service, Mr. Fred Houchin sang "The Glorious Morn". For the festive occasion, the church was tastefully decorated with evergreens, with red and white carnations on the Altar.

On Christmas Eve a midnight Celebration of the Holy Communion, preceded by the singing of carols, was held in Trinity Church, Frankford, and was attended by a large congregation.

Boy Scouts Deliver Baskets

The local Boy Scout Troop have more than done their "good turn" for this year. For several weeks they have laboured hard and long in an endeavour to make homes which were probably less fortunate than others a little more happy during the Christmas season. They have been busy collecting Buckingham wrappers for same, and just recently staged a boxing show by means of which fifty-five dollars was raised to help along this very creditable work. Added to the efforts of the Scouts, the Girl Guides had prepared twenty dolls and stockings filled with nuts and oranges.

Twenty baskets filled with a variety such as a chicken, a small sack of flour, a tin of salmon, 2 tins of soup, 2 tins of peas or corn, a package of Jello, a pound of biscuits or a jar of marmalade, as well as toys for all the children in the family, were prepared under the supervision of Mrs. J. McC. Potts and Morgan Rowland, and thus twenty families were made happy by the efforts of the Scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster Tom Ward, and the Girl Guides under Miss Munro. These two organizations are surely to be commended for their unselfish labours. The baskets were delivered under the supervision of the local Clergy on Saturday night.

Ten gifts were left over and were sent to Frankford to be delivered there by Rev. A. S. McConnell, Rector of Mark's Church in that village.

SHOW NEW YEAR'S

There will be a show in Stirling Theatre on New Year's night and Tuesday night. The management has secured the picture "Her Bodyguard" which is reputed to be of a high class calibre. Plan on taking your visitors "to the show" New Year's night.

RECEIVE R.N. DEGREE

Misses Muriel and Grace McKee, graduates of the General Hospital Kingston, have been successful in obtaining their "R. N." degree. The News-Argus joins their friends of the community in extending congratulations.

FRACTURES WRIST

Mrs. Allan Bailey met with a painful accident on Tuesday about noon, when she stepped backwards on to the dog, which was lying on the floor. She tripped and fell to the floor, breaking her arm just above the wrist. Dr. W. H. Pedley was summoned and reduced the fracture.

INJURED IN FALL

While returning from an entertainment in the school-house on Friday evening, Mrs. Caleb Bateman had the misfortune to slip and fall, fracturing a bone in her elbow, as she was entering the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Vance, Rawdon. Mrs. Bateman is the mother of Mrs. Walter Wright, Stirling.

"HER GLOVES" IS MUCH ENJOYED

Unusual talent was displayed by the youthful actors who partook in the comedy "Her Gloves" in the local theatre on Christmas night, staged under the auspices of the Young People's Society of St. Paul's United Church, and very ably directed by Mrs. E. Munro. It would be difficult to pick out the star of the evening, as all played their particular parts exceptionally well. The cast was as follows:

Walter Dillingham, dealer in Real Estate—John Munro.
Jefferson Ruggles, his father-in-law—Fred Joblin.
Robert Slocum, a friend of the family—Reg. Mathison.
Charley Brooks, a neighbour—Lloyd Rowland.
Jim Ryan, theatrical manager—Donald Scott.
Mrs. Ruggles, wife of Jefferson—Mrs. Perry Ronson.
Blanche Dillingham, wife of Walter—Marjorie Hagerman.
Dora Ruggles, in love with Slocum—Mary Grant.
Elizabeth Brooks, wife of Charley—Dorothy Thompson.
Valeska Bjou, a lady lady—Dorothy Eggleston.

The stage setting was that of the living room in the Dillingham's summer home and the first scene opened with a discussion taking place between the Ruggles' daughters, Mrs. Dillingham and Dora. A terrific thunder storm raged outside and Blanche was greatly concerned over the safety of her husband, Walter. Dillingham, absent, supposedly on a fishing trip with her father. Mrs. Ruggles entered, also concerned over the belated husbands, as well as distressed at their having moved to the country and the lack of servants in the home. To Dora's great joy, Robt. Slocum, her fiancé, arrives, but he immediately sets out to try to locate the missing husbands. He had just gone a few minutes when Mr. Ruggles and Walter arrived, but they found about their fishing trip. The men were very evasive in their replies, which aroused suspicion in the wives. As the men were out of the room, changing their clothes for dinner, Slocum arrived back and handed Mrs. Ruggles a pair of lady's long white kid gloves which he found in the yacht. The men tried to explain the presence of the gloves on the yacht by saying they belonged to a Mrs. Brooks, who, with her husband, Charley, were on the yacht with them. Slocum agreed to dress in lady's garb and impersonating Mrs. Brooks, who was on the yacht with them, he went to the yacht.

IS BIG EVENT FOR KIDDIES

Christmas has come and gone. But the pleasant and happy thoughts of nearly six hundred children, many of them tiny tots, almost too small to travel in comfort, on foot, the fairy travel route followed by the Christmas parade here last Saturday, will be cherished by them for many months. They actually saw Santa, walked in the parade behind him, received a bulging bag of candies, nuts, oranges, and gum, and eagerly listened to any words which he might address to them. Probably over half of these happy youngsters saw their first talking picture, the guests of the happy and jolly old gentleman who is their idol at all times.

There were many of the older kids enjoyed the event to a probably greater extent than did the school-age and younger children who braved a time of moriment and anticipation for everyone. The event, which was sponsored by the Stirling Hydro Electric Commission, which includes Chairman Thos. W. Solmes, Commissioner C. N. Baker; Reeve W. C. West and Manager and Secretary, F. A. Sprental, was a success beyond even their fondest hopes. The Merchants and others who contributed toward the Stirling Christmas Tree Fund have just cause to feel proud of their efforts. It was glorious!

Stirling's new band led the procession, and did full justice to themselves. The strains of "Jingle Bells" seemed to fill everyone with a spirit of Christmas. The parade formed at the High School, proceeded from there to Front Street, marching past Bailey's Garage, across the bridge at the dam, turning on Mill Street at Burditt's garage and down to the road east of the Memorial Park, where the huge decorated Christmas tree proved to be Santa's delivery station. Between five hundred and fifty and six hundred bars, each containing a very generous supply of sweets and nuts, along with other good things were distributed by Santa and the Boy Scouts, who very capably, under the direction of Scoutmaster Tom Ward, looked after the welfare of the participants in the parade and kept everything in order.

Most of the schools in the surrounding district were represented in the parade, as well as the local Public School. Some of the rural schools had as many as twenty children in the event. Schools represented were: Sidney—S.S. 24, Madoc Junction; S. 19, River Valley; S.S. 22, Glen Ross; S.S. 20, Marsh Hill. Rawdon—S.S. 1, Ridge Road; S.S. 6, Sine; S. 7, Fourth Line; S.S. 3, Wellmans; S.S. 11, Eighth Line; S.S. 20, Springbrook; S.S. 16, Bateman; S.S. 13, S.S. 13, Allans; S.S. 4, Wellmans; S.S. 19, Minto, Huntingdon; S.S. 1 & 3, West Huntingdon; S.S. 8, Fuller; S.S. 2, Ivanhoe; S.S. 4, Red School House. Many were heard to remark that no other attraction but Santa could bring together children from such a widespread territory for such an occasion.

Standing-room was at a premium at the local theatre, and the management presented there a high-class programme for the entertainment of the visitors, whose parents were left free to do their Christmas shopping and purchase all those necessary things for that festive season.

Merchants report a splendid increase in business for the day. In spite of the heavy downfall of snow and the cold wind, the stores were filled with shoppers. The cash registers indicated that the day was a very successful one. It was a very happy matter to do one's shopping in Stirling. Bargains were everywhere to be found and the stores were attractively decorated, with the merchandise displayed for the convenience of the buyer.

To congratulate any particular person or persons on the success of the event would be unnecessary, but to Thos. W. Solmes and Frank Sprental, who along with the Hydro Commission sponsored the affair should go special praise. It was the first local attempt at anything of this kind, and the satisfied youngsters and parents were more than a suitable reward for their labours. May this be only the beginning of such events. May it be an annual affair and something that both parents and kiddies may look forward to. The candies, nuts, oranges for the gift bags were purchased from local merchants.

THE H. S. DANCE

The Stirling H. S. students and staff proved ideal hosts and hostesses at the school dance held in the Community Hall last Thursday night. It was an enjoyable event and a decided success. The hall was artistically decorated with the Yuletide colours, with mistletoe prominent in the centre of the hall. The buffet table, at the side of the hall, was tastefully decorated with poinsettias and tall red tapers in silver holders predecanimated. Ideal music was furnished by Chas. Allen, pianist; Jas. Large, Belleville, saxophone, and Maurice Bell, banjo. Round dancing prevailed, with one square dance being enjoyed under the supervision of Mr. Jas. McDunnell, floor manager. Partakers of the grand fantastic were present from the surrounding towns. Principal and Mrs. R. G. Lawlor received and welcomed the guests at the door which aided much in making all feel at home and enjoy the event.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Happy New Year to all the ors, correspondents, Editor and
r. It is not difficult to write, but difficult to vision the realization we wish in the circumstances sur-ounding us today — the troubled and gray aspect — the world. But angle is the one and only way rely we rise to higher levels, so us through Faith make 1924 a Happy New Year for each one of us for a sick and discouraged world.
to may I repeat "A Happy New r to All!"

God's Angels
Throughout the year, all silently, wondrous angels came to meet me fair and sweet, some dread and drear;

So came God's angels throughout the year
And shall I fear their forms to see
And now the New Year dawns for me
Grim pain, dark sorrow, darker I Bringing the shadow of the cross Fair Joy, bright Hope and Patience still,
Obeying His all-loving will,
Shall I now look with dread and Down the long vista of the year?
Ah, no, for wonderful to see
God's angel Faith has come to me

MARRIED

Brooks, call at the Ruggles home to claim the gloves. Complications arose when Charley arrived, stating that his wife, who may arrive any minute, is greatly perturbed with his actions in his having gone to the races in the afternoon. Charley is alone in the room as a lady arrived, whom he presumed was Slocum, but who was really the actress, Valeska, who was on the yacht with the men and had come after her gloves. Walter and Mr. Ruggles entered and found her there, and immediately hid her in the library, and when the ladies found her, they maintained she was the new maid, so sent her to the kitchen. The ladies accepted this explanation and the curtain for Act I descended showing the husbands and wives embracing, with everything forgiven. However, trouble arose again in Act II when Mrs. Ruggles discovered Valeska's umbrella, which was left carelessly on the desk. As the initials on it are "From J.R.", it was accepted as a gift from Jefferson Ruggles to Dora. In this act Charley got into difficulty when his wife saw him with Slocum, whom she presumed to be "another woman". Alas Ryan, Valeska's husband, arrived, and upon recognizing the umbrella, he demanded them to release his wife. All were dumfounded when Valeska, in maid's uniform, entered and upon seeing her husband, fell into his arms. In Act III, the husbands have all been served with notices of divorce, which proved a great blow to them. While they were in consultation as to how they could clear themselves, Mrs. Brooks and Blanche hid behind a screen in the room and heard everything, which includes the trip about the yachting trip. The actress had been taken on the boat to pick out some lots on Pleasure Island that she wanted to give her husband for a birthday present, and had sworn Mr. Ruggles and Walter to secrecy about the trip. When Mrs. Ruggles and Blanche revealed themselves, the husbands realized everything was forgiven, the clouds had disappeared and "all lived happily ever afterwards."

Before and after the play and during intermission, selections were rendered by the Sunday School orchestra under the leadership of Maurice Bell. At the end of the first act the selections "Connecticut March" and "Somewhere in Old Wyoming" by the Banjoliers were well received. The members of the Banjoliers were Maurice Bell, Ken Stapley, Russell Pitman, Harold West and Donald Scott. The numbers "Mellow Mood" and "Manana" by the guitar orchestra, composed of Maurice Bell, Ruby Stapley, Pearl Stapley, Harry Vandervoort and Chas. Irvin were well applauded and were of high order.

YOUR FELLOWMAN

(By James Whitcomb Riley)
If you should see a fellowman with trouble's flag unfurled,
An' lookin' like he didn't have a friend in all the world—Go up and slap him on the back, and holler, "How d'you do?"
And grasp his hand so warm he'll know he has a friend in you;
Then ax him what's a hurtin' him an' laugh his cares away;
An' tell him that the darkest night is just before the day.
Don't talk graveyard palaver, but say it right out loud
That God will sprinkle sunshine in the trail of every cloud.

SYNOPSIS: Ruth Warren, who lived in the East, is killed three-fourths interest in the "Dead Lantern" ranch in Arizona by her only brother, who is reported to have met his death while on business in Mexico. Arriving in Arizona with her husband, who has ailing lungs and their small child, they learn that the ranch is located 85 miles from the nearest railroad. Old Charley Thane, rancher and mail carrier agrees to take them to the "Dead Lantern" gate, 5 miles from the ranch house. As they trudge wearily through a gulch approaching the ranch house, a voice whispers "Go back. Go back." Ruth's husband caught in a rain shortly after their arrival contracts pneumonia and passes away before medical aid can be brought. Ruth, penniless and without friends attempts to carry on but is balked at almost every turn by the crafty and plotting Snavely. Despite obstacles of all kind Ruth gives notice to her ranch interest to purchase cattle. She is assisted by Old Charley Thane and his son, Will Thane. A Mexican family has been hired to assist with the work. A peculiar sickness develops with the livestock Snavely calls it "liver fever"..... and says he has a powder for the water to cure the disease. Ruth discovers trickery in Snavely's tactics of poisoning her cattle, but says nothing, waiting for additional evidence. Drought is overcome by sinking a well in the ravine, getting water for the perishing stock. At the round-up Ruth has enough stock to sell to meet her notes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Ann groaned and the joints of her entwined fingers cracked, but she shook her head. "I just can't go for doin' nothin' 'gains' Mr. Snavely. You doan understand how it is with me an' him."

Slowly the giantess walked to Ruth's room. The girl followed. "These here ready?" asked Ann, pointing to two suitcases. Ruth nodded, and the big woman left the room with them.

Dully, Ruth continued the packing. She would try again after Ann was off the ranch and on the main road. But Ruth felt certain that Ann would do exactly as Snavely had ordered.

In a short time the packing was finished and the buckskin horse saddled. Ruth looked about for David; he was not in sight, nor did he answer her call. She suddenly realized that she had not seen him since returning from the mail box. Ordinarily, she would have been only mildly disturbed—the snakes were gone this time of year.

Then Ruth's heart stopped; a few feet from the board fence around the old well lay a box. It lay as though it had been placed on end against the fence; in imagination, Ruth saw her son standing on tiptoe, leaning over the fence, looking in at her.

She walked toward the box, her feet over to see better, losing his balance, the box falling away as his feet left the top. With a cry of anguish she ran to the box, stood up, and mounting, leaned over the fence—

"David!" The name rang hollowly and died away. "David—" With a moan, Ruth slipped from the box.... The next instant it seemed to her Ann was helping her to her feet.

"Ann! Rope's bring ropes quick!" Ruth struggled to free herself from the giantess' arms. "Let me go! Oh, God, don't let David be in there—"

"Now wait, Miss Ruth—wait—you doan know he fell in, does you?"

"No—but where else is he—where else—?" Ruth was dizzy; she sought to keep her senses. "Ann—"

Ann left her and ran into the house. Ruth climbed upon the box again, but she could not look down.

The giantess lifted her from the box. "You stand down, I'll look w.th this—you couldn't see nothin' with no lantern on a rope."

Ann held a lantern in her hands. She caught the light of the sun and turned it into the well. Ruth saw her smile broadly. "There I done toi! You he warn't down there!"

Snatching the mirror from the ground where the giantess had dropped it, she climbed upon the box just as the lower limb of the sun touched the western mountain range. The light from the mirror struck downward, wavered, and came to rest on the cloth hanging from a nail part way down the wall. Ruth stared at the cloth as the light slowly faded. Before it was entirely gone she knew what that cloth was. Once she had said Harry, her brother, a present—a red silk handkerchief with an odd design of large white horseshoes.

David just then came trudging up from the gulch. He couldn't understand all the concern about his absence.

Ruth stepped from the box, took David by the hand and led him into her room. After locking the door, she took Will's revolver from the trunk and sat down on the bed beside her son.

The handkerchief... Harry all ways wore it. Old Charley had said, if her brother was alive, how did it get half-way down the well on the Dead Lantern ranch? If he were not there, according to the Mexican who had reported his death, the handkerchief was buried two hundred miles below the Mexican line.

Ruth had actually mentioned the handkerchief. As Ruth sat on the bed, holding the small hand of her silent, wondering son, her mind raced; that first night when Snavely had thrown a bundle into the old well. He had not been expecting anyone to come on the ranch, and had left things about which must be got rid of....

The bundle opened as it fell and the light silk handkerchief floated alone, and came to rest on a nail in the timber, where it stayed.... Snavely's feverish desire that she should not ask questions about the well, that she should not go near it.... The well haunted him; wasn't he always looking toward it?

Without any cut and dried reasoning, without weighing, rejecting and sorting evidence, Ruth found herself with a clear, convincing picture of the whole plot. She knew as plainly as though a hundred investigators had compiled proofs for a hundred days.

He stopped and his hands went up that the letter was a lie; that it was Snavely's final effort to get rid of her and Harry—Harry was dead. His body lay under a pile of rubbish at the bottom of the well.... that was why Snavely's pale eyes strayed there so often.

She heard Snavely's voice shouting angrily for Ann, then the thump of his boots as he entered the house.

"David," whispered Ruth, "Mama's going to trust you to do as she says—stay on the bed, and don't be afraid—Mama'll be back pretty soon."

With the revolver in her hand she stepped to the door, silently unlocked it, and stood with her left hand on the knob.

In the kitchen Snavely abruptly ceased to upbraid Ann, and the boots thumped across the porch. "By God, I'll show her who's—"

As quickly as she could move Ruth thing open the door and stepped out. The revolver, fully cocked, pointing at Snavely's breast. He stopped and his hands went up. Ruth quietly closed the door behind her.

"Ann!" Ruth's voice was sharp, metallic. "Go into the living room."

She waited until she heard Ann's footsteps. "Now you march in."

Snavely turned without a word and walked before her.

"Sit down—you too, Ann." The girl nodded toward the chairs by the table.

The huge woman and the pale-eyed man seated themselves. Snavely gradually lowered his arms.

"I've got nothing against you, Ann—far from it. But if you won't help me you'll have to go with this murderer."

"What—what's that?" Snavely gasped and his eyes stared wildly.

Ruth spoke to Ann without turning her head: "Ann, will you help me now? This man murdered Harry Grey, his partner. You must help me him so that we can take him to the authorities.... Well? Are you or his side or his?"

Ann's face was a study. For a moment she regarded Snavely, then Ruth. No one spoke.

"Well, Ann!"

"Fore Gawd, Miss Ruth—I doan know—I doan know—"

Ann wrung her hands and rose to her feet. "Please, Miss Ruth—I can't help you 'gains' him." Ann walked to the door, hesitated, returned a few steps then went back and stood near the window, in an agony of indecision.

"All right, Ann, think it over," Ruth stepped close to the man in the chair. Her voice was clear and sharp.

"You murderer!" Snavely shrunk back in his chair.

"Say it!" commanded Ruth. "Tell Ann what you are!"

"Loudly!" she cried, thrusting the muzzle of the gun almost against his face.

"I—done—it—My God! let me be—guit lookin' at me! I had to do it, I tell you!"

"Don't move! Now tell us why you did it," Ruth stood right foot for ward, her smooth young face set rigidly.

"I—I shot him."

"Why?"

"Because I hated him!"

"Why?"

"I don't know—he come here. He brought his interest from the man who owned it an' he come here. He wanted to be partners—I signed. I couldn't help it—damn him!"

"What did he do to you?"

"I don't know—let me be, can't you? He come here an' I wasn't by myself no more—I couldn't git him to go."

"You didn't have to murder him!"

"I hated him, I tell you! He done what all people do—I hated him like I hate all the rest. I got to be by myself. I been alone since I was born. Every man I ever knowed tried to git somethin' off me. Every store-keeper tried to cheat me. Every rancher tried to fence off part of my land—every time I got a good thing somebody tried to get it away for his own self. That's all humans do! Their whole lives is jest spent trying to get something somebody else has got!"

"Well?" demanded Ruth.

"When I come here there was twenty thousand acres of this ranch an' the house was in the middle of it. I couldn't see no fence whichever way I looked. I bought this ranch. I could stay here. I had my horses an' I had enough cattle to keep me busy an' to feed me. I bought this ranch fair an' square. Then a maa come with a paper an' says he owns three-quarters of it. But he didn't want to stay here—he didn't want rothin' but money. So he went away an' I scraped enough together each sellin' time an' sent it to him. That was all right. Then your brother bought that man out an' come here. He came to stay. He aimed to improve the ranch. Good God almighty!"

"I am going to take you over the mountains," said Ruth evenly. "Stand up!"

Snavely slowly rose and Ruth backed away. At that moment his eyes looked past her shoulder and his head nodded ever so slightly. Before Ruth could move great strong arms were holding her in a vise, a big hand took possession of the gun. Anna's voice muttered close to her ear. "Use sorry."

"Give me that gun!" Snavely darted toward Ann as the giantess released the girl. Ann backed away shaking her head. Snavely stopped.

Ann spoke swiftly to Ruth. "Git your little boy and ride away quick—hurry, Miss Ruth, fore he makos me give him the gun."

"Ann, help me—you have the gun, help me to take him over to Thane's place," begged Ruth.

The giantess roared at her. "My Gawd, git away like I tol' you!"

Her voice was clear and sharp: "You murderer!"

Neither Snavely nor Ann moved under the sounds of Ruth's horse and David's questioning voice had died away.

Snavely, white with rage, spoke scathingly. "Now give me that gun, you black—"

The gun in Ann's hand wavered uncertainly. "Jeez a minute," she faltered.

"Give it here!" Ann cringed, turned the revolver butt forward and held it out.

Snavely snatched the weapon, and raised the muzzle to Ann's face. Then he paused, and lowered the gun. "Git my horses, damn you! They'll come back—the Thanes'll come an' git me! They'll coop me up! Hurry along—git Buck an' throw a pack saddle on him. Run, damn your black hide!"

Ann ran out of the house. Snavely hurried into the kitchen and began feverishly filling a gunny sack with provisions. Five minutes later, his outfit was piled by the kitchen door: three sacks, his bed roll, a frying pan and, leaning against the house, a 30-30 rifle in a saddle sheath with four cartons of cartridges against the butt.

Ann was coming from the barn, leading the buckskin horse with a pack saddle on his back.

RIVER VALLEY W. I.

The December meeting of the River Valley Women's Institute brought the usual good attendance to the home of Mrs. P. Utman.

The meeting was opened by the President with the singing of the "Opening Ode" and followed by the Lord's Prayer. Many thrifty suggestions for Christmas gifts were given in answer to the Roll Call on "Hints for Inexpensive Christmas Gifts", including some novel ideas demonstrated by Mrs. Roy Bush.

It was moved and seconded that the usual Christmas gift be donated to the Children's Shelter in Belleville, and that hot drinks be again provided for the school during the winter months.

Letters of thanks for fruit to the sick were read and general business attended to. The following Christmas program was in charge of Mrs. Ross Bush and Mrs. Lansing, and was conducted by the former, which commenced with Carol singing, led by Mrs. C. Chard. A detailed and graphic account of the Belleville Convention was then given by the delegate, Mrs. P. Utman, who stressed the items of vital importance for the welfare and carrying on of the Women's Institute. Her report was keenly interesting and was greeted with much applause. Hearty assembly singing followed with humorous and was conducted by the former. A splendid reading "Story of the First Christmas Tree" by Eugene Field, was descriptively given by Mrs. Lansing, in which she outlined the origin and true spirit of Christmas, which so often takes second place to the gay festivities and merry-making. The hostess then treated her guests with apples and Christmas Homemade candies, whilst Christmas cheer and good fellowship pervaded the atmosphere. The National Anthem brought to a close an enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Lansing kindly volunteered her home for the next meeting, with Mrs. N. Rosebush and Mrs. McIntosh in charge of the program.

S. H. S. LITERARY SOCIETY

The Stirling High School Literary Society held its second meeting in the High School Auditorium on Friday afternoon at 3 p.m. and was in the form of a French programme and was under the direction of Miss Mundy. Fred John, president of the Society, was in the chair, and delivered the chairman's address in French. The secretary's report was given after which the boys and girls of Form 2 gave a choral arrangement of the French composition "Don venez tu Berger?" with Miss Keitha Stapley at the piano. Messrs. Gerald Sprentall, Aubrey Rodgers and William Sutherland presented a short French play which was well received by the audience. Misses Madeleine Luey and Margaret Bateman sang a pleasing duet, "Ma Normandie", accompanied by Miss Calow at the piano. A French dialogue between Miss Donald Richardson and Miss Dorothea Thompson as the maid-in-waiting in French costume, also was well enacted. Mr. Clifford Holmes then led in the singing of "Allouette" taking the solo part himself. Two members of the Second Form, Arthur Sheridan and Lorne Johnston, presented a short dialogue. Four boys and four girls of the First Form, Hilma Mathison, Mae Clements, Marie Luey, Irene Tucker, Frank Butler, Gordon Green, William Morton and Murney Wright rendered a pleasing chorus which was also in French. The last item on the program was a short dialogue featuring Tom Bedford and Wendell Thompson. After appropriate votes of thanks were rendered in French by the Chairman to Miss Mundy and Miss Calow for their efforts in making the afternoon a success, the singing of the Marseillaise completed an enjoyable programme. Mr. Lawlor offered his criticism, which was both adverse and favourable.

Plans were discussed for the oratorical contest, sponsored by the Literary Society, to be held after the Christmas vacation.

LATE GERMAN SINE

A well-known resident of this district in the person of the late German Sine passed away at his late residence, Henry St., about two o'clock Christmas morning. The deceased had been in ill health for the past six months, suffering from an intestinal ailment. Mr. Sine was a mason by trade and has laid several stretches of sidewalk in Stirling. He was born on seventh concession, Rawdon township (Sine Settlement) August 29th, 1863, and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Sine. He had resided his entire life in this district. Mr. Sine is survived by his sorrowing wife, who was formerly Hattie Bailey, and four daughters and one son; viz: Mrs. John White, Cannifton; Mrs. Donald McIntosh and Miss Jean, of the General Hospital, Belleville; Mrs. Wm. Ryckman, Stirling, and Norman at home. One son, Gordon, predeceased him twelve years ago. The funeral service was held in St. Paul's United Church yesterday, with Rev. E. W. Rowland in charge. Owing to the severe cold weather, the remains were placed in the vault at the cemetery to be interred later. The members of the I.O.O.F. of which the deceased was a member for a number of years, took part in the burial service. The pall-bearers were Wm. Fitchett, Geo. Macginnon, Elgin Jackson, George Weaver, W. H. Patterson and Arthur Vandervoort.

The friends of Mr. John Snarr will be sorry to learn that he is seriously ill at his home in Wellmans, with nurses Miss Margaret Anderson, R.N., and Miss Grace McKee, R.N., in attendance.

SEEN THROUGH THE OFFICE WINDOW

(By The Office OWL)

Well, this week most of the "boys" we mentioned last week in our letter to Santa are a little peeved. They all say that none of them got anything that was mentioned, and perhaps if we hadn't "batted in" they would have been more graciously looked upon. Sorry boys. But it all goes to show that even Santa reads this section of the News-Argus.

Where would one find a more happy-faced, cheerful throng of youngsters than could be seen from our window last Saturday afternoon in the Christmas Tree parade? If the merchants didn't sell a nickel's worth all afternoon it was worth the effort to see the pleasure the kids got from the affair.

And then one generous-hearted soul was heard to say "I'll bet they bought their candies out of town!" O-O-H! Why didn't Adam and Eve behave themselves so we wouldn't have to be bothered with people like that!

Well anyway, for the benefit of those who even "had their suspicions", we want to say that every cent's worth that was bought, was bought in STIRLING.

The funny part of it all, as we saw it, was the banter. The music was great, but those topcoats made our minds wander back to the Red River Rebellion! Whenever that was!

There's one thing certain — if it had been advertised that Premier Bennett was coming to town to meet Mackenzie King in a boxing ring, each one to wear hip rubber boots and a pink dance set, it wouldn't have drawn so many people to town as did that Christmas parade! Let's have another one next year!

There must be something kind of nice about it. After all the "abuses" last year's Councils id

Sidney, Rawdon and Stirling received, they've nearly all gone back for more.

There are a lot of residents around this town who figure that the only one who is supposed to keep the sidewalks adjoining their property clear of snow is the neighbours.

A lot of these "mild winter" forecasters should just make one more attempt and then go south to live, where there isn't any winter to fool with.

But a year from now, when they think the natives have forgotten about their crazy predictions of this winter, they'll be saying "I told you so, last winter." There ought to be a law!

Too much praise cannot be given the Girl Guide Troop and Miss Mundy and Mrs. J. McC. Potts, and the Boy Scouts and Tom Ward for the kind deeds these organizations performed this Christmas.

We were just thinking the other day that if we could just get a sort of "Down Town" Hockey League formed, it should be lots of fun, and the following line-up for one team is all ready, that is if the following can find time to play on the team — Tom Cranston can play goal; Fred McKee, right defence; Bob Williams, left defence; Lindsay Meldejohn and Alex Park left and right wings; Joe Whitehead can only play centre on Tuesdays and Thursdays, so for a sub perhaps Jim Lawrow can be signed up.

There's no scarcity of material so why not let's have a "Down Town" Hockey League?

Happy New Year Folks!

The same to me and many of them?

LOCAL MUNICIPAL OFFICERS

Walter Wright stated that he had enjoyed being connected with the work of the Board of Education, and in case of an election would be in the field.

Thos. W. Solmes, as a member of the Hydro Commission, stated that the Hydro was one of Stirling's main items. The assets of the local system were well outlined by Mr. Solmes and included the Hydro office and store, sub-station, lines, transformers, metres, etc. In 1933 there was an estimated operating profit of $56.69. There are 120 street lamps of 125 C.P. each, at $12.00 per year; 268 residential customers; 83 commercial customers and 10 power customers, or a total of 381. Net cost per K.W. Hr. for domestic use is 1.70, one of the lowest rates in the Province. Commercial rate is 2.6c per K.W. hr. The average Domestic bill is $11.71 and the average Commercial bill $3.80. Those who were connected with the Commission during its early stages were deserving of great credit for the firm foundation they had laid in this work and for the remarkable foresight they had shown.

Mr. Frank Stapley thanked those who had nominated him, but withdrew.

Wm. Fitchett, for several years connected with the Council, spoke of the pleasant relationships he had enjoyed as a member and withdrew his name.

Mr. D. Utman, who had formerly served on the Council, felt that this work should be left for younger men. Due to ill health it would be impossible for him to undertake to fill a position on this Board.

Reeve W. C. West explained that he felt a public utilities commission for the purpose of looking after all affairs of the present Hydro Commission as well as the local waterworks business would be a very useful body, but due to the lateness of the season, sufficient time had not been allowed for the advertising of the by-law in connection with the same and the matter was not settled by the Council. He also explained that although the present supply of water was being taken from his property, he was receiving no financial benefits from it. The municipality was at liberty to take all the necessary water supply from this well from any other well in the village, it did not mean anything to him, he stated.

Clerk G. H. Luery, who had previously warned the nominees that all declarations should be filed by nine o'clock the following night, then asked that all rise and the meeting concluded with the National Anthem.
